Turkey Issues Ultimatum; Hotline Exchange Continues

YAWN IN VOTING — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg yawns today during the voting when the United Nations General Assembly voted to keep Red China out of the U.N. for another year. (AP Wirephoto)

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Turkey and Greece appeared tonight to have gone to the brink of war over the Cyprus crisis. But last minute negotiations were being carried out over a telex hotline between Ankara and Athens to ease the "very critical" situation.

Informed sources in Ankara said Turkey delivered an ultinatum to Greece to accept Turkish terms for settlement of the Cyprus crisis or face unspecified "necessary measures." But the reported 6 p.m. (11 a.m. EST) deadline expired without incident, as Turkey apparently extended its time limit.

The Turkish chief of staff called in his armed forces commanders after a day in which a fleet of Turkish warships approached to within 15 miles of Cyprus before returning to their base. Turkish jets screamed over the Mediterranean isle 40 miles off the Turkish coast.

Ismet Inonu, 82-year-old former premier who now leads the main opposition party, called on President Cevdet Sunay at Sunay's request. It was Inonu who gave the order to bomb Greek Cypriot positions on Cyprus when he was leader of a coalition government in 1964.

"The situation is very critical," Inonu said after the meeting.

Despite the tension in Ankara, reports from the Greek-Turkish border said the situation was normal.

Informed Turkish sources said the last minute snag was a Greek statement that in return for concessions it would insist on changes in the 1960 Zurich agreements granting Cyprus independence from Britain.

The agreements permit intervention in Cyprus by either Greece or Turkey if conditions governing treatment of the Greek or Turkish communities on Cyprus are infringed upon. The sources said Greece wants this proviso to be eliminated.

At one point today a Greek government spokesman spoke of the possibility of war.

Three major mediators were in Athens to try to avert war and it was believed Turkey would bide its time. The three were U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance, U.N. envoy Jose

Congressmen Relieved, Concerned Over McNamara's Stepping Down

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — After nearly seven years on the job, Robert S. McNamara is preparing to step down as Secretary of Defense. The news was greeted in Congress today with varying degrees of concern and relief.

McNamara, 51, is said to be prepared to accept the presidency of the World Bank. The bank directors meet tomorrow and might vote formally on his selection to the $40,000-a-year post.

When McNamara would leave the Pentagon remained a question. It could be fairly soon or several months away. He would succeed another American George D. Woods.

On Capitol Hill, where there are few neutrals regarding the defense chief, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called him the best man in the Cabinet —"one we can least afford to lose."

Mansfield said he hoped the secretary's departure would not mean "further escalation" of the Vietnam war. McNamara is widely reported to have recommended restraint in conduct of the war, including bombing of North Vietnam.

One of McNamara's detractors, Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, called the impending resignation "welcome news to many members of Congress."

President Johnson met with Democratic congressional leaders late yesterday while rumors were first circulating about McNamara's departure. Mansfield said the rumors were discussed but that Johnson did not confirm their validity.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who called McNamara a "very positive guy," said he had no advance knowledge of the reports of McNamara's leaving and that he had "not discussed it" with Johnson, with whom he is in frequent contact.

McNamara's impending departure immediately raised

Viet Cong Launches Scattered Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported five more Viet Cong hit-and-run attacks scattered across South Vietnam. Ground fighting also was renewed in a coastal lowlands valley in the northern part of the country.

"It's a kind of cyclic thing," one U.S. officer said of the rash of harassing attacks that began last Saturday.

In the air war against North Vietnam, the northeast monsoons limited American pilots to 117 missions yesterday but the targets included two Red air bases, a third uncompleted airfield used for storage and a barracks area.

The Viet Cong, in their latest hit-and-run attacks raided two U.S.-South Vietnamese air bases, a South Vietnamese junk base, a government subsector headquarters and a national police station.

The guerrillas set fire to four light observation planes, burned up one helicopter and damaged three others, sank one junk and damaged another. At the subsector headquarters, they inflicted heavy damage on an electric power house, a water company and the information office.

While material damage was moderate to heavy, casualties were light. At least two military men were killed and eight others wounded, including one American killed and five Americans wounded.

This type of warfare intensified in the wake of the three-week battle at Dak To with 14 mortar assaults Saturday in the Mekong Delta.

Marin Family Center Will Shut Jan. 31

Board Vote Unanimous; New Program Is Ordered

The Family Rehabilitation Center at Lucas Valley will be phased out of existence by Jan. 31, 1968, the Marin County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously today.

The vote came after they heard two hours of arguments both for and against the controversial center.

The supervisors also asked the Juvenile Justice Commission to submit to them by March 1 a new treatment oriented program for juveniles who come into Juvenile Court.

James D. Adams, chairman of the Juvenile Justice Commission, said the termination of the FRC program involves no change in the policy of rehabilitating delinquent minors and helping them become good citizens.

ASKS TERMINATION

"The commission is satisfied that in view of the numberous difficulties which the FRC program has encountered, including its unsatisfactory public relations, that it has no reasonable prospect of successful operation, and should be terminated."

Adams also referred to the "permissive" atmosphere at the center. "There is considerable doubt in the minds of informed and concerned persons . . . whether a public program for delinquent minors should be so oriented as to accept or tolerate a disregard of legal rules or accepted standards of social behavior."

Eve Citrin, FRC clinical director, defended the program. She said the FRC program was not given a chance to operate long enough and with community support for a proper evaluation of its effectiveness. She denied that the program was too tolerant or too permissive.

"Of the 41 in residence since 1965, 31 were returned to Juvenile Hall for various violations," said Miss Citrin. "This indicates that we are not totally permissive."

AGAINST CLOSING

Mrs. Anne DeCook of Mill Valley presented a petition calling for the continuation and expansion of the center. "We as citizens want a . . . place where our disturbed juveniles can find individual and intensive care."

Informational School Session Breach Of Act

The president and vice president of the San Rafael Board of Education held an unannounced breakfast session yesterday with Supt. John F. Plank to prepare for tonight's regular meeting and tomorrow's with the Dixie School District board.

Although the meeting was "purely informational," according to the participants, it breached a 1964 ruling by the state Attorney General's office which declared:

"Because of the admitted importance to the people in the area of the matters discussed at such meetings . . . we believe that the provisions of the Brown Act apply to such meetings and that the public is entitled to notice of and the right to attend such meetings."

The Brown Act restricts local governing bodies from meeting privately other than to hire, fire or hear charges against an employee.

The attorney general's ruling followed luncheons between a number of city councils and civic organizations in southern California. While the luncheons were largely social, civic problems were discussed in detail.

San Rafael Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said yesterday's meeting was called by him to review agenda items. He said the sessions have been held for some time, and expected them to continue "unless the attorney general writes me to cease and desist."

"Th intent is perfectly honorable," he said. "Other board members are aware of

U.N. Again Refuses To Seat Red China

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The General Assembly today refused for the 18th time to hand over China's U.N., seat to Peking.

It voted 45-58, with 17 abstentions, against a 12-power proposal submitted by Albania to unseat Nationalist China in favor of the Communist Chinese regime. The 13-vote margin was 2 votes wider than last year.

The United States and Nationalist China also had the votes to impose a two-thirds majority voting rule on the Albanian proposal, and to defeat an Italian proposal for a special study committee between assembly sessions.

Albania and 11 other nations offered a measure to unseat Nationalist China in favor of Peking. The United States and 14 other nations offered a resolution to impose a two-thirds majority on any change in Chinese representation. Italy and four allies proposed the whole question go to a special study committee.

Ambassador Marcel Charles Antonine, of Haiti, the first speaker, reaffirmed Haiti's opposition to the Albanian move.

The China representation issue first came before the United Nations in 1950, the year after the Communists won the mainland. A direct vote to seat Peking was defeated in the General assembly 33-16. From 1951 to 1960 the votes were on measures to shelve the issue without decision for the duration of the current Assembly session. In 1961 the Assembly returned to voting directly on the question and has done so in each succeeding year except 1964, when a financial stalemate prevented it from voting on any issue.

Gov. Reagan Rejects End To Cutbacks In Medi-Cal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said today he could not accept a moratorium on Medi-Cal cutbacks, as proposed in the legislature by Democrats and Republicans.

"This would not be in my mind a responsible answer" to the financial problems facing the state's program of medical care for the poor, Reagan told a news conference.

If the legislature approved such a moratorium, Reagan said, he would have to search for "whatever solution is possible" to save money in the program.

He commented as his own proposal was formally submitted to the special session of the legislature. Even some key Republican legislators admitted Reagan's plan — to allow him to go ahead with some of the cuts — was virtually doomed already.

To delay his planned economies would jeopardize the entire Medi-Cal program and state financing, Reagan said. He commented that his planned cuts for non-life saving services would provide "no great sacrifice" by the recipients.

Meanwhile, the state would determine just how much the Medi-Cal program is in the red. "If we're wrong, the services could be restored," Reagan said. But he could not predict when that might be.

The basic problem, the governor added, is "the patient has a credit card and it is unlimited. There is no restriction on its use."

It might "squeak" through the Senate, but chances for Assembly passage were doubtful, said Sen. Clair Burgener, the San Diego Republican who is sponsoring the governor's three-bill package.

The key question appeared to be whether Reagan would accept an alternate. Democrats indicated they would.

SEVEN-DAY ORDEAL

Mill Valley Couple Imprisoned In Montana Snowstorm Safe Now

An elderly Mill Valley couple was resting in a Livingston, Mont., motel today after the harrowing experience of seven days and nights imprisoned in their station wagon bogged down in a snow drift.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Horst of 954 Greenhill Road were reported "getting on well" at the motel where they were taken after the rescue Sunday by two deer hunters.

According to reports, the couple — in their 60s — used a quilt, a blanket and some newspapers to fend off the 10 degree below zero cold.

Horst, a retired cabinet maker, and his wife spent yesterday sipping orange juice and were due to get their first look at solid food for a week.

They credited their "absolute faith in God" for the survival. They sustained themselves by praying and eating handfuls of snow.

"Our faith in God was unshaken. We had absolute faith in Him throughout," Horst reportedly told his rescuers. The manager of the motel told the Independent-Journal today the couple were not expected to be on their feet until tomorrow.

U.S. Cigarettes Appraisal Called Meaningless Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tobacco Institute, spokesman for the nation's tobacco industry, discounts as meaningless a new government report listing the tar and nicotine content of 59 kinds and sizes of cigarettes.

And two of the five Federal Trade Commission members also questioned the validity of the findings.

LEAST TAR

The report said Marvel filter cigarettes had the least tar and nicotine. It said the brand with the most tar content was the nonfilter, king-size Chesterfield, and the one with the most nicotine was the same type Raleigh.

The Tobacco Institute said the rankings meant nothing because there is "no scientifically established relationship between tar and nicotine levels and human health."

The institute added that "smoking to a 30 millimeter butt length, as recommended by most tobacco companies and two of the FTC commissioners, should have been the basis for the test."

And, the institute said, while there are more than 150 kinds and sizes of cigarettes made in this country, only 59 were tested.

QUESTIONS FINDINGS

Chairman Paul Rand Dixon of the FTC and A. Everette MacIntyre, another commission member, in questioning the validity of the findings, said there should have been greater uniformity in the butt lengths to which the same cigarettes were smoked.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the consumer subcommittee of the Senate Commerce Committee, made the report public.

Magnuson hit out at the new 100-millimeter cigarettes as a "serious backward step." He said they "represent added tar and nicotine and escalate the hazards of smoking."

Quarantined

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — About 200 Marines were quarantined after two Marines were hospitalized with spinal meningitis, Marin officials say.

Stricken during the weekend and reported in fair condition at the base hospital are Privates Jorge E. Gavilanes, 21, of Los Angeles and Gregory K. Reeves, 20, of Benton, Ark.

They are members of separate companies of the 2nd Infantry Training Regiment. The two companies will continue training while isolated from other trainees for 10 days.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Wallace's New 'Little Dixie'

BELL GARDENS (UPI) — Campaign workers for the American Independent Party of former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama are calling this Southern California city "Little Dixie."

Wallace

Wallace has been stumping Southern California to gather the 66,059 signatures necessary to qualify the third party for the California presidential primary ballot.

The unannounced presidential candidate claimed yesterday more voters in Bell Gardens have registered with the American Independent Party than for either the Democratic or Republican Party.

As of Nov. 18, Wallace said, 3,058 voters had registered for the American Independent Party, compared to 2,875 for the Democrats and 1,291 for the Republicans.

Tuition Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Under-graduate and graduate students at the University of Southern California will pay $300 in additional tuition beginning in 1968.

University authorities announced Monday that tuition would rise to $1,800 annually, effective in the summer and fall next year, for students taking 15 units or more per semester.

The charge per unit for part-time students will rise from $50 to $60.

Death Rate Of Divorced Up

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Divorced men and women are dying at a faster rate than married people, according to a California census report.

The figures issued by the California State Department of Public Health show that divorced persons tend to die of suicide, alcoholism and emotional illness.

Their suicide rate tops the figure for married persons by three to five times, according to Dr. Lester Breslow, health department head. The divorced also have a higher rate of physical illness.

"We in public health have long realized there was a connection between divorce or separation and mental or physical bad health," Breslow said.

Identified

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The blonde young woman whose nude body was found last Saturday in a lovers lane near Brisbane has been identified as Michelle Jean Hoi, 22, of San Francisco.

She was a resident of the Haight-Ashbury district, said San Mateo County Sheriff Earl Whitmore. San Francisco police, who identified her yesterday through fingerprints, said she had lived there since September. Prior to that she had been in Southern California.

Whitmore said an unidentified member of the Hells Angels motorcycle club had been released after questioning.

Stab Death

KARLSRUHE, Germany (UPI) — Police today held Ursula McLaughlin, 30, on a charge of stabbing her U.S. soldier husband to death with a letter opener on Sunday. The U.S. Army identified the soldier as Spec. 4 Dawson McLaughlin, 24, of Elizabeth, N.J. The German-born wife allegedly told authorities she stabbed McLaughlin after an argument in which he mistreated her.

Tax Increase Held Credit Worry Answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs of a credit squeeze similar to the one last year that forced homebuilding into a tailspin are increasing—and both Johnson administration and industry officials insist only a tax increase can head it off.

Many of the symptoms match last year's and they began developing before the Federal Reserve Board raised the discount rate from 4 to 4½ per cent in reacting to devaluation of the British pound.

KEY MONTH

This is the rate charged by the Federal Reserve for money borrowed by commercial banks. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

But since then the government has reported other indications of tightening money, especially for mortgages.

January could be a key month for mortgage lenders and homebuilders.

The end of the year also marks the end of a dividend period at savings and loan associations and institutions at that time could face a possible withdrawal of deposits for investments paying higher interest.

This trend last year led to sharp reductions in the growth of savings at S&Ls, the largest single source of home mortgage funds, and depressed homebuilding.

TIGHTENING MONEY

There have been these indications of tightening mortgage money the past few days:

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported an increase in interest rates on conventional home loans to 6.38 per cent for new houses during October. It was the second straight monthly rise although still below the record 6.49 per cent of last December.

The board also reported the smallest October gain in savings by S&Ls for that month since 1960, except for last year when deposits actually declined.

Loan commitments by S&Ls —an indication of future homebuilding—are showing signs of slowing with such pledges down during September and October.

The Federal National Mortgage Association reduced the price it will pay for mortgages it buys in its secondary market operations. This was done to conserve the agency's resources.

U.S., Britain Protest Drugging Searching Of Military Attaches

WILLIAM J. SPAHR
A taste of wine. . .

MOSCOW (AP) — Five or six men attacked and searched the American and British military attaches in Moscow after they were served apparently drugged wine on a trip this month near the Romanian border, the two embassies charged in protest notes to the Soviet government.

An American spokesman said today the Soviet reply "was not considered satisfactory" and that further protests are being considered in Washington and London.

VISIT TO KISHNIEV

The U.S. Embassy and the British Foreign Office said the incident occurred Nov. 17 when the British attache, Brig. C. A. des N. Harper and U.S. Col. William J. Spahr of Philadelphia, Pa., were visiting Kishniev, capital of Soviet Moldavia.

The attaches toured an experimental winemaking farm in the area at the suggestion of their Soviet guide, sampled its wines and sherries and ate food. On returning to their hotel room they became ill, vomited and went to bed, a statement from the British Foreign Office said.

"A subsequent medical examination gave material evidence for suspicion that the wine had been tampered with," the British statement continued.

SIX BREAK IN

About four hours later, according to the British, five or six men broke into the room, "forcibly held the attaches down, tore open their clothes and removed their money belts which contained personal papers."

The papers were returned after about an hour and the attaches did not suffer serious injuries, the U.S. spokesman said.

The intruders broke glasses and an ashtray and tore down a curtain, then charged the attaches with the property damage and said there had been complaints of noise in the room, the British said.

Rafferty Asks Vote On Office

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State school chief Max Rafferty thinks his own elective office should be appointive and that members of the State Board of Education should be elected rather than appointed. But Board President Dorman L. Commons disagrees.

Instead, Commons says board members should be appointed by the governor for terms of up to 10 years with selections based on a list of nominees prepared by the Legislature.

The two education leaders disagreed sharply yesterday as a Senate education subcommittee began hearing proposals on revising the method by which the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education members get into office.

Currently, the position of Superintendent of Public instruction, now held by Rafferty, is elective, while board members are appointed.

Rafferty said this creates "an impossible position" because the superintendent is responsible to the electorate, yet must take directives from an appointed board.

Westmoreland Letter Stirs Marine Corps

NEW YORK (AP) — Army Gen. William C. Westmoreland is reported by Marine Corps sources to have recommended in writing that Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, former commander of the Marine force in Vietnam, be named the new commandant of the corps, The New York Times said today.

The Washington story added: "By this intervention in the intense political struggle within the corps over the selection of the next commandant, General Westmoreland, commander of the United States military forces in Vietnam, has outraged the Marine Corps hierarchy."

The story said it was not immediately clear to whom Westmoreland addressed his recommendation—whether to the White House, the Defense Department or Marine Corps headquarters.

In any event, the story said, his recommendation landed on the desk of Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., the outgoing commandant, "and set off rumbles of indignation in the corridors of Marine Corps headquarters."

A Union Of Doves McCarthy's Hope

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota expresses hope his early entry as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination will solidify behind him currently diffused opposition to President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

McCarthy's official announcement that he will undertake the probably unrewarding task of trying to deny an incumbent President renomination is set for Thursday.

PLEDGES FIGHT

Acknowledging he is ready "to get my feet wet," McCarthy said in an interview yesterday that an early start is essential if he is to convince prospective supporters he means business.

He indicated he will pledge to go all the way even if he encounters setbacks in early primaries.

Inherent in this is his obvious belief that some of the score or more of organizations that have been springing up to push Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., as an antiwar candidate will turn to him if they become convinced Kennedy means what he says when he asserts he will not run.

FIRST TEST

New Hampshire may furnish a test case in this respect. Kennedy backers there have ignored the senator's repudiation of their efforts. Thus far McCarthy's crusade seems to have attracted little attention in the state which holds the first primary, on March 12.

McCarthy isn't at all sure he will be on the ballot there. He said he may visit New Hampshire during Congress' Christmas holiday to sound out his chances in a primary that might find Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre or Gov. John W. King running as a stand-in for Johnson.

FIRST PRIMARY

McCarthy previously had mentioned the April 30 Massachusetts primary as one in which he might take a flyer. But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has been discouraging such a venture.

The Minnesota senator will visit Wisconsin about Dec. 10 in an effort to put together an organization to back him in the April 2 primary there. He is confident he could muster a significant vote against Johnson in the state.

So far as McCarthy is concerned, the big one will be the June 4 California primary.

Summit Report Held As False

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House terms "not a factual story" a published report that President Johnson has received encouragement from Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to seek a U.S.-Soviet summit meeting.

Newsweek magazine reported yesterday that Johnson received a letter from Kosygin within the past 10 days and as a result was encouraged to seek a face-to-face meeting with Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev.

White House press secretary George Christian told newsmen he had been informed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and special presidential aide Walt W. Rostow that "the first we heard of this particular matter was when it appeared in print."

"It is not a factual story," said Christian.

Britain Faces Humiliating Second-Class Market Role

BRUSSELS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's new veto of Britain's application for Common Market membership strengthened the belief of some experts today that Britain had better settle for associate membership.

This status, though humiliating because it would cast Britain in a second-class, nonvoting role, would open the Common Market tariff wall to British products.

NO HALF-MEASURES

Prime Minister Harold Wilson has said he does not want any half-measures. But continental experts believe associate membership would be a good thing for Britain and probably the only kind of relationship with the Common Market the British can get as long as De Gaulle is president.

The French president made clear yesterday at his semi-annual news conference that devaluation of the British pound has had no effect on his determination to keep Britain out of the six-nation trade community.

"The present Common Market is incompatible with the British economy the way it is," he said.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris is 984 feet high without the television antenna.

The British Foreign Office, without mentioning De Gaulle, noted that a reply to its application had to come from "the existing members of the community as a whole." This indicated Britain officially still hope the other five members can change De Gaulle's mind, but this seems most unlikely and only one "no" vote is necessary to block membership.

FORMER COLONIES

As an associate member of the community, Britain would join Greece, Turkey and 18 African states—most of them former French colonies—who have no vote in determining the Common Market's general policy but are consulted on issues of interest to them.

Right Answer, Wrong Saints

NEW ORLEANS La. (AP) — A Roman Catholic nun asked Catechism class to name two saints.

One bright-eyed youngster, aged 9, furiously waved his hand and shouted, "I know, sister. I know. Jimmy Taylor and Gary Cuozzo."

Both play football with the National Football League's New Orleans Saints.

Kentfield Firehouse Plans On Agenda

Final plans for the new Kentfield firehouse will be reviewed by the Kentfield Fire District Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

The structure will be erected next to the existing fire station at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue.

Humboldt Redwoods Park Due 1,400 Added Acres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Humboldt Redwoods State Park will be enlarged by 1,400 acres in 1968 to provide a six-mile extension to the Avenue of the Giants Scenic Parkway, it was announced today.

The California Department of Parks and Recreation and the Save-the-Redwoods League, in a joint announcement, said the six-mile extension on U.S. 101 between Englewood and Stafford would include the incomparable Pepperwood Flat.

The state, the league and Pacific Lumber Co. agreed on the purchase of the first unit in January and the second unit in July of 1968.

The State has appropriated $1,925,000, the league has pledged $1,575,000, and these sums are being matched by the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund to make up the total price of $7,000,000.

As part of the agreement, Pacific Lumber is donating 27 acres of redwoods to the state of California which lie along the Eel River at the northern end of the purchase.

A third parcel of about 140 acres, valued at more than $860,000, is being held by Pacific lumber to allow the league and state an opportunity to raise the funds necessary to acquire it.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Reagan formally offers his solution to the financial problems of the state's medical assistance program, but some key Republican legislators think that the proposals are doomed — at least in the Assembly.

THE ASSEMBLY

Rejected a motion to reconsider Wednesday's vote amending AB 6, Veneman, R-Modesto, the tax "loophole" bill, to appropriate any funds raised to the Medi-Cal program.

Resolution Introduced:

Medi-Cal — Declares a moratorium on Medi-Cal cutbacks until next Feb. 29 while an independent audit of the program and its deficit is conducted; ACR 11, Veneman.

THE SENATE

Resolutions adopted:

Smog — Requests committee level study of suggestion that vehicles be inspected annually for efficient performance to reduce smog emissions and for proper operation of smog devices; SR 33, Richardson, R-Arcadia.

Innocent Plea To Forgery Charge

Shirley Jean Fabian, 22, of the Bermuda Palms Motel, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of possessing a forged check with intent to pass it.

Miss Fabian is accused of having a fraudulent $85.50 payroll check from Mahoney Painting of San Rafael at the Bret Harte Supermarket last Tuesday.

She also faces a charge of forging a $33 check at the Bermuda Palms and possession of narcotic equipment. Police reported a search of her apartment at the motel disclosed a heating spoon and syringe under a mattress.

Melkonian's Remarks Delay Judge's Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A decision in a controversial marijuana conviction was delayed again today pending a Superior Court judge's investigation of remarks attributed to the defendant on radio and television broadcasts.

Judge Joseph Karesh set Dec. 5 for another hearing on the appeal of Melkon Melkonian, 36, Mill Valley mechanic convicted of selling marijuana.

Judge Karesh said he heard Melkonian on a television program last night and again this morning on a radio program.

The judge said he was so "shocked" by the discussion of a court issue that he wanted to be sure he "heard things straight" before passing judgment.

Judge Karesh remarked that he heard Melkonian say on a TV program (KTVU) Oakland, that the court was wasting its time trying to decide the constitutionality of the marijuana law and should be engaged in more important matters.

Karesh said that on a radio program (KNBR, San Francisco) this morning he heard Melkonian defend his right to sell marijuana, comparing it to the sale of beer. As the judge recalled the program, the defendant said marijuana was no more harmful than beer.

Judge Karesh also instructed probation officer Grant Mickins to talk with Melkonian to check the accuracy of the statements attributed to him during the broadcasts.

The judge, who had been asked by Melkonian's attorney, Molly Minudri, to declare marijuana non-addictive, expressed reservations about applying the same penalties as for sale and use of heroin and other dangerous drugs.

He stressed that he was not sure in his own mind that sale and use of "pot" should be classed as a felony.

But the court said defiance of the law could not be tolerated. He recommended finding remedies in the legislature.

One of the spectators in the courtroom was Garnet Brennan, 58, the Nicasio school teacher who was fired recently because she admitted smoking marijuana for 18 years.

She volunteered the admission in an affidavit supporting Melkonian's appeal.

CYPRUS

Rolz-Bennet and NATO envoy Manlio Brosio.

Their conferences were expected to take several hours and no Turkish action was expected during their crucial 11th hour talks. In the past both sides have resorted to "brinkmanship" to win a point.

Vance rushed to Athens today from Ankara and five hours of negotiations with Turkish officials. He held a series of emergency conferences with top Greek officials in what appeared to be the most crucial day of the crisis.

The Cyprus crisis appeared yesterday to have eased dramatically and Archbishop Makarios, the Cyprus president, said he did not expect war. There also were optimistic reports from Ankara and Athens.

Many of the Turkish demands already have been met. Gen. George Grivas, commander of the Greek Cypriot National Guard, left Cyprus for Athens. Turkey regards him as the No. 1 trouble maker on the island, a man determined to annex Cyprus to Greece at any cost.

Cyprus, which is about the size of Delaware and Rhode Island combined (3,500 square miles), has a population of 600,000 persons. The Greek Cypriots outnumber the Turks 4 to 1 and that is the basic origin of the crisis.

Youth Arraigned On Burglary And Theft Of Auto

Thomas George Coffey, 18, of 131 Oak Manor Drive, San Anselmo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on charges of car theft and burglary.

Coffey was arrested Thanksgiving night after the burglary of the Marcelle McCoy home at 115 Van Tassel Court, Sleepy Hollow.

Mrs. McCoy's son, John, returned to the home that night to find three youths in the kitchen. They ran.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Coffey a while later, as he walked along Butterfield Road. They said he made a damaging statement about the break-in at the McCoy home.

A 17-year-old San Anselmo boy, arrested for the burglary, implicated himself and Coffey in the Nov. 21 theft of a car from Richard Keith of 90 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, deputies said.

Senior Citizens Club On Agenda

A proposal to organize the senior citizens involved in the San Rafael recreation center program into a club will be discussed tomorrow at 8 p.m. by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission.

The advisory group of senior citizens to the center has asked for this club, according to Andrew J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation.

The commission will also discuss a report on the 1967 summer recreation program.

Tar Pot Causes A $7,000 Blaze

San Anselmo firemen said Marin County Roofing Co. of San Rafael was repairing the roof of the home o-f John Rossini at 29 Sais Avenue about 1:40 p.m. when the mobile pot overheated and flamed. The fire spread over the trailer and trees and bushes before it could be extinguished.

ported yesterday in the northern 1st Corps Area along the coastal lowlands below Da Nang. Four U.S. infantrymen and three North Vietnamese were killed and 21 Americans were wounded in a six-hour battle 21 miles north-northwest of the provincial capital of Tam Ky in the same fortified Communist valley where 12 U.S. Marines were killed and 80 wounded the previous day.

The Viet Cong raided two allied air bases just before midnight, both in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon and within 25 miles of each other.

said Mrs. DeCook.

Dr. Jean L. M. Pouteau, San Rafael psychiatrist, said he concurred and supported the proposed phase-out of the center, but warned that the county must learn from the FRC experience. permissiveness was widely misquoted and misunderstood, said Dr. Pouteau. He said public support and county administration support will be needed in any future program if it is to be successful.

William B. Reiner of San Rafael, a parent, said "it would be a shame" to close the program without a definite alternate program in mind.

Chief Probation officer Walter H. Busher recommended that the center be phased out by Jan. 29, 1968; that all FRC staff positions be abolished by Jan. 31; and that the intensive supervision unit of the probation office take over the care of the few, possibly five, children who will remain in the FRC building after next January. Busher asked the supervisors for five new deputy probation officers to help in the intensive supervision unit.

the meetings, and we believe they are within the interpretation of the Brown Act.

Kramer said he is out-of-town often and needs "homework in advance."

Yesterday's meeting was held at the Court House Creamery in San Rafael and lasted about a half-hour.

"We on the board respect one another's opinion," Vice President Herman L. Childress, who also attended, said. "There was no attempt to tell one another anything or to pull any political shennanigans."

Dr Plank called the meeting "innocuous and innocent," denying it violated the Brown Act. As board secretary, Plank said, he considered it his duty to brief board officials so that they "understand what's on the agenda."

Asked whether the proposed hiring of Mrs. Virginia Franklin, controversial social studies teacher, was discussed, Plank said it was, but "not in detail."

Mrs. Franklin, once accused of being un-American while at the same time up for a Freedoms Foundation award, would teach for the remainder of this year, if named.

The board, which meets at 7:30 p.m. today in the district offices, also has scheduled a special meeting with the Dixie board over unification at 8 p.m. tomorrow, also in the San Rafael schools' office.

Family Reports Shooting At Dam

A Stockton family traveling near Nicasio Dam was shot at by two young men standing on an overlooking hill Sunday, Marin Sheriff's deputies reported today.

A. Grant Macomber said he and his family were driving on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road near the dam when they saw the men with a gun on the hill.

One of the men pointed the rifle and something struck the road about 40 feet in front of the car, he said.

No Action On Zone Ordinance

Tiburon Planning Commission discussed for three hours last night in a special meeting possible revision to the recently adopted zoning ordiance, but took no action, according to Phil V. Scott, secretary.

No major changes in the ordinance are being contemplated, according to Scott, but there are 17 editorial changes recommended by the city council under consideration.

Next regular meeting of the commission will be Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

City Manager Is Back At His Desk

San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen is back at his desk in City Hall this week — although with crutches — following surgery at Marin General Hospital Oct. 30.

The operation was to repair an ankle that failed to heal properly after being broken two years ago in an auto accident. He was to have been released from hospital earlier but an infection developed, he said.

Look at this '68 "youngmobile" from Oldsmobile.

Wouldn't it look great in your driveway?

This new Cutlass S has a way of making things look younger. Even driveways. That's because of all the young ideas we built into it. A bigger 350-cubic-inch V-8, for instance. (Or, if you prefer, an Action-Line 6.) And a taut coil spring suspension that makes it easy to cut and turn in tight places. And you can order a whole carfull of young-it-up accessories like bucket seats, stick-shift or stereo. But if you think Cutlass S is young all over, don't forget that it is Olds all over, too. Olds quality, Olds engineering and the full list of new GM safety features are all standard equipment.

—Broiled Leg of Lamb—

An excellent choice for a dinner party. Easy to serve and easy to carve. Have a medium size Leg of Lamb boned. Our meat cutters will do this for you.

1 tsp. Oregano
1 tsp. garlic powder
1 tsp. lemon peel
1 tsp. Beau Monde seasoning
1 tsp. parsley
1 tsp. cracked Bay Leaf
1 tsp. onion salt

Crush oregano and combine with garlic powder, lemon peel, Beau Monde, parsley and Bay Leaf. Rub seasoning well into Leg of Lamb. Place lamb in a glass baking dish. Pour olive oil over lamb and turn until well coated on all sides. Marinate lamb at room temperature 1 or 2 hours. Place lamb on broiler rack or pan 7 to 8 inches from heat source. Broil approximately 40 minutes with fat side facing heat source. Turn and broil 15 minutes longer. Carve in diagonal slices ¼ inch thick.

Freeman Asks For Plants In Rural Area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman today urged a group of the nation's industrial leaders to build plants in small towns and rural areas as one solution to the national problem of poverty-group migration.

He told the Industrial Development Research Council convention that for every 187 rural youngsters who reach working age today, there are only 100 jobs available. This forces more than a half-million to move to the city annually, often finding no more opportunity in the city than in the rural area they left.

Secretary Freeman told the 200 industrialists at the convention that if present trends continue, 80 per cent of the 300 million Americans in the year 2,000 will be piled into 4 per cent of the land.

"And that, my friends, will be congestion with a vengeance. It will mean pollution that suffocates and tension that kills."

Freeman said that many firms are moving to the suburbs, but that this just creates new patterns of urban congestion.

He told the business leaders "I am asking you, when you leap, to take the big leap, the leap beyond the suburbs to the countryside where you will find clean air, cheaper land, usually lower taxes, and a willing labor force."

Construction work by Edward H. Chapman of Novato at the Oakview Elementary School, San Rafael, was hit by vandals over the weekend, San Rafael police reported today. A can of paint was daubed on new construction and roofing nails scattered about the site.

Navy Officer Holds Touchy U.S. Viet Policy Caused His Ouster

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Lt. Cmdr. Marcus Aurelius Arnheiter, who is fighting a so-far-losing battle to clear his record after being ruled unfit for further Navy command, believes touchy relations between the U.S. and South Vietnam influenced his removal from the bridge of the radar picket ship Vance.

Arnheiter, now a San Rafael resident, has exhausted his avenues of appeal through Navy channels. He pins his hope now on Congress ordering the Navy to make the entire record of his case available.

ORIGINAL CHARGES

Among the original charges leveled against Arnheiter by some junior officers aboard the Vance("beatniks," according to the lieutenant commander) was that he had kicked two South Vietnamese Navy officers off the ship.

This charge disappeared from the specifications somewhere along the line. But in recommending against giving him further command, Arnheiter said today, the Navy Bureau of Personnel mentioned "international relations" being involved.

This, he believes, refers to his actions regarding the South Vietnamese liaison officers.

REFUSES ORDER

The first of these was an Ensign Lien. Arnheiter related that, as the Vance was patrolling off the Vietnam coast, he assigned two U.S. officers and several members of the crew to inspect a cargo concentration on the beach that he suspected was supplies for the Viet Cong.

Lien was told to accompany the party aboard a small boat. He refused to go, according to Arnheiter. Thereupon one of the American officers assigned to the job, Lt. (jg) Edward Hopkins Mason, grabbed him by the arm and pulled him onto the boat, exclaiming, "Come on, you s.o.b.! This is your war too."

Arnheiter said he reported the incident to Rear Adm. Norville G. Ward, commanding officer of Task Force 115, to which the Vance was assigned. Admiral Ward gave the vessel a "well done" for the mission, said Arnheiter, and cited "a refreshing degree of initiative, aggressiveness and resourcefulness."

However, this initiative and aggressiveness figured a few weeks later in Arnheiter's removal from command in March, 1966.

IS REPLACED

Lien, understandably, arranged another assignment. He was replaced as South Vietnamese liaison officer aboard the Vance by Lt. Ho Dau.

Ho "did not appreciate my asking him to join my officers and my American crewmen in a South Vietnamese armed junk to go after three sampans that we suspected contained armed Viet Cong," Arnheiter related. As the junk approached the harbor in pursuit of the sampans, Ho exclaimed that he "did not want a bullet in the guts" and refused to enter the harbor. Arnheiter then had him returned to the ship and reported the matter to Admiral Ward.

ALSO RELIEVED

Arnheiter's relief from command came soon afterward.

The 42-year-old officer, a Naval Academy graduate, has since been kept at desk work at the Western Sea Frontier headquarters on Treasure Island.

The four charges that remain against him as basis for decision that he shall never be given another command appear trivial to Arnheiter. He suspects that the real reason may be his insistence that South Vietnamese officers should share the risks of their own war.

$265,000 For Ayala Cove Dredging Gets State Nod

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A $265,000 allocation to dredge Ayala Cove at Angel Island was approved yesterday by the state Harbors and Watercraft Commission.

The vote put the allocation in the Parks and Recreation Departmen's proposed budget for fiscal 1968-69, but will be subject to approval by the legislature next year. The work will be done next fiscal year if approved by the legislature, said Elvin A. Curtis, chief of the boating facilities and waterways branch in the Harbors and Watercraft Department.

The cove, now less than one foot deep at low tides, probably will be dredged to a 10-foot depth, which easily would accommodate up to 40-foot boats, Curtis said.

There are 380,000 Indians living on reservations in the United States.

Site Work At New Tomales High School On Schedule

Major drains have been installed and the cutting and filling started on the site work for the new Tomales High School, Supt. Anthony Matulich reported last night to the Tomales Joint Union High School District board meeting at the high school.

The site work is progressing according to schedule with the top soil removed and stockpiled for future use, Matulich said. The new site is on the Tomales Petaluma Road one mile east of the present school.

The Tomales Joint Union High School District Board also:

BANQUET — Approved holding a banquet at 7:30 p.m. today at the Elks Lodge in Petaluma to honor the coach and players for the school's two winning football teams. The varsity and junior varsity each won the championship.

APPOINTMENTS — Named the following department heads: Clinton Purcell, social science; John R. Eckenroad, mathematics and science; Annie Rook, foreign languages; Mrs. Kathryn Lawson, English, and James Kovalik, physical education.

AGREEMENT — Authorized Matulic to develop an exchange of funds policy for interdistrict attendance with the Tamalpais High School District.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 8 p.m., Dec. 13 instead of the regular date of Dec. 14, because of a conflicting Sonoma County Board of Education meeting.

Group Will Study Hub Regional Park

The San Anselmo Homes Association board will appoint a committee to help promote the idea of a hub regional park, Donald Mansell, president, reported today.

The committee will serve at the convenience of landscape architect William L. Kapranos, originally hired by San Anselmo to make plans for a park on the city-owned Sorich Ranch. He has envisioned a larger park including the ranch and serving the whole region.

Tiburon Council Views Ordinance On Community Television System

A three-man Tiburon City Council last night introduced an ordinance covering a 20-year franchise for Clearview Cable Systems, Inc. to construct, operate and maintain a community antenna television system in the city.

Under its terms, the city is to receive five per cent of the total receipts or no less than $1,200 yearly.

Hookup charges require a deposit of $15 for the first outlet with a minimum monthly charge of $4.50.

Councilmen William R. Bemer and Branwell D. Fanning were absent.

The council decided last night to continue permitting 15 minute parking in the red zone on Main Street for vehicles picking up commuters when the ferry debarks each evening.

Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen reported there has been no damage to life or property because of the short-term parking on the narrow street and that an officer would be assigned as regularly as possible to prevent blocking of traffic at the commuter hour.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose was directed to negotiate with the state on establishing parallel parking on Tiburon Boulevard to eleminate hazardous perpendicualr parking to further relieve downtown traffic problems.

Tiburon City Countil last night also:

SIGN ORDINANCE—"Put off until the Dec. 11 meeting a hearing on proposed sign ordinance to allow time for study of amendments received from the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee.

MUNICIPAL CODE — Introduced a municipal code containing 76 ordinances adopted by the city through last March 13, by City Publications Co. and approved first reading of the adopting ordinance. Set a public hearing on the code for Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. in city hall.

STAMP TAX — Introduced and approved first reading of an ordinance imposing a documentary stamp tax on the sale of real property. Rose estimated the local tax would produce about $1,500 in annual revenue to the city, half of the amount he figured the county would realize from local property transfers.

NEW COMMISSIONER — Appointed for a four-year term Allan Thompson, Reedlands architect, as the seventh member of the parks and recreation commission.

ASSESSMENT COUNSEL — Resolved to retain the law firm of Sturgis, Dendulk, Douglass and Anderson of Oakland as special counsel on setting up assessments districts in the city, at a fee of three per cent of the cost of the construction.

SALES TAX — Went on record opposing a study by county to redistribute sales tax revenues between the county and cities.

FLOOD CONTROL — Approved 2-1 a county-wide flood control zone study, with councilman Thomas E. Drohan voting against it as it might raise taxes.

TRAFFIC SURVEY — Agreed to pay $1,500 on a disputed bill with Wilbur Smith Associates, San Francisco, for a traffic survey made two years ago.

BUS FARES — Set a protest hearing for the Dec. 11 meeting at 8 p.m. in city hall on a proposed raise in Greyhound Bus rates.

TRAILS POSTPONED — Put off until the Dec. 11 meeting discussion of a contract with the county to establish a trail system on the peninsula.

ESPERANZA STREET — Adopted City Engineer Ray W. Foreakers's commendation to begin preliminary engineering on extending Esperanza Street to Mar West Street, to determine the best routing.

RECREATION APPROVED —Gave approval for a teen dance for Jan. 6, to cost the city not more than $100, at Del Mar School, and a tree-burning event on the same night. Both activities to be sponsored jointly by the Belvedere and Tiburon parks and recreation commissions.

Snow In Sierra

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Several inches of snow fell in the Sierra today but main highways were open, although chains were required on some sections.

Councilmen Defer Action On Ferry

Tiburon councilmen last night deferred action on protesting a ferry service application but let Milton McDonogh know they would do what they could to protect "the local businessman."

McDonogh, who has owned and operated the Angel Island Ferry Service since 1961, had requested the council to protest at a yet-unscheduled hearing before the public utilities commission, an application by Harbor Carriers, Inc. to operate ferry service between San Francisco and Sausalito and between Tiburon and Angel Island.

Councilmen assured McDonogh of their interest in protecting his rights as a local businessman, but said they felt it would be fair to examine both the Harbor Carriers application and McDonogh's filed protests before making a decision to back up his protest before the PUC.

Tiburon Boulevard Sidewalk, Drainage Cost Study Ordered

Tiburon City Council last night directed City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose to figure participating costs to property owners in construction of drainage and a sidewalk on Tiburon Boulevard.

Cith Engineer Ray W. Foreakers was given the authority to approve a $250 expenditure for a water run-off study after discussing it with the Belvedere Council.

Foreaker told councilmen the drainage for the sidewalk, from Tiburon Lodge to the bus station, would add $3,100 to his estimate of $11,400 for interim drainage on Tiburon Boulevard, a drainage repair in front of Fred Mantegani's Corner Market and construction of the sidewalk.

Monteganis's estimated pro rata share would be $1,400, according to Foreakers.

Kelly Wheeler, director of the Tiburon Fire District, said the board was willing to share in the cost of installing drainage in the area to help relieve winter flooding in front of the firehouse.

Wheeler asked for a formula on which the city would base its participating charges and was promised by Mayor John S. Hoffmire that one would be forthcoming.

Belvedere Mayor John R. Moore, in the audience, reminded councilmen that Belvedere is more interested in an outlet to Racoon Strait than to Belvedere Cove, which it fears would be silted.

He also spoke up for a mutual study of run-off water, costing each city $250.

Foreakers said he doubted if the city could get a qualified study of run-off for $500 and that "backyard engineering" would be a waste of money.

Hoffmire directed Foreakers to meet with the Belvedere council to dicuss run-off and authorized him to spend the money if he then felt the study would be worthwhile.

Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge also felt the study was a waste of money and opposed the motion to authorize it, which passed 2-1. Councilmen William R. Bremer and Branwell D. Fanning were absent.

DUE PROCESS

Driving Case Dismissed —Breath-Testing Denied

Marin Municiapl Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday dismissed a charge of drunken driving lodged against a Sonoma man, saying a Marin County jailer deprived him of his right to due process under the law.

The issue was whether jailer Joe Mooney should have allowed James M. Baxter, 37, to take a breath test once he was booked after refusing to take any test for blood-alcohol content.

Baxter said he refused to take the test until he talked with his attorney Sept. 6, but that he was refused permission to call his attorney until he was booked.

The arresting officer, Robert V. Marvin of the San Rafael Police Department, said he advised Baxter six times to take the test, but the man insisted he wanted to telephone "a friend" first.

When Baxter was booked, he called his attorney, Jaspar DeDobbeleer. The attorney then requested that Baxter be given a breath test, but Sgt. Mooney refused, the judge was told.

Baxter's three attorneys, Harold Hyde, Jerome Duffy and DeDobbeleer yesterday moved for dismissal of the charge on grounds he was deprived of his right to due process, as prescribed by the 14th Amendment.

Judge Roth ruled for Baxter saying the law requires that an arrested person be given the right to take a test for use in his defense.

Judge Roth said he would welcome a test of his decision in a higher court and Joshua Thomas, deputy district attorney, said his office will appeal.

Trailer Denied At Country Club

The Marin Golf and Country Club last night was denied a permit for a watchman's trailer at its clubhouse at the end of Country Club Drive by the Novato Planning Commission.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

BUILDING — Approved a permit for a new building for the Santa Rosa Savings and Loan Association at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue.

Co-Author Of Mental Health Act Gives Talk

About 50 members of the Marin Association for Mental Health heard Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada, discuss the Mental Health Act of 1967 at the Civic Center last night.

Mrs. Larry B. Mishkind, president of the association, presided during the 2 and one-half hour session.

Lanterman, co-author of the bill, explained that his bill safeguards the civil and legal rights of those committed to mental institutions. It provides for voluntary rather than involuntary committment, except for those who are judged to be dangerous to themselves or to others.

The new law also eliminates the old indeterminate committments and provides periodic review of each case. Lanterman said the bill sets up a conservatorship for the legal protection of those gravely disabled, such as a senile person.

SOS Is A Hoax

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — U.S. and Japanese officials speculated today that an SOS reporting an engine room fire aboard an American tanker named Cleveland was a hoax and called off a search for the ship.

Suspended Sentence In Marijuana Case

Otis Ward, the 27-year-old musician and "high priest" who said his church recognizes marijuana as food given by God, was given a suspended state prison sentence yesterday by Superior Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Judge Gardiner placed Ward on two years of probation for felony possession of marajuana, with the condition that he spend 65 days in county jail. Ward has served all but one of those days, the judge noted.

Ward defended himself at his two-day trial, saying no attorney would support his belief that marijuana smoking is God's will and therefore he should not be punished.

Judge Gardiner took note of that defense today, saying it "does not indicate to me that you're impressed by the good sense of your fellow citizens."

The judge said there are some laws of which he does not approve too, "but I'm not the legislature and neither are you. You can lobby for a change, but while the law is on the books you can't ignore it."

Speaking in a soft voice, Ward acknowledged that he has been impressed with the "validity of the law."

At his trial, Ward wore a psychedelic shirt and carried his home-made clarinet-flute.

He freely admitted using marijuana, saying the Bible states "every green herb" should be eated as meat.

He said he was ordained as a high priest of the Church of Jesus Christ in San Francisco under the "Order of Mechisdet" and was baptised during services last Easter in Golden Gate Park.

"Herbs are healing," he declared, "and we're all healthy from smoking marijuana."

Ward and others were arrested by sheriff's deputies in a deserted house above Waldo Grade on June 6. Deputies said they found enough marijuana for 60 cigarettes.

Banker Arrested

LUCERNE (AP) — Swiss police have arrested Youssef Beidas, former president of Lebanon's Intra Bank, who is wanted at home in connection with the bank's multimillion-dollar cave-in in 1966.

Mill Valley Board Gets Report On Middle School

The Mill Valley School District Board last night officially received the Mill Valley City Council's latest offer in negotiations for development of the Project 17 site for a middle school, but took no action.

The board will meet next Monday to discuss the negotiations and will receive reports then on the Project 17 site, development costs, foundations needed, and a comparison of construction costs at Project 17 versus costs of building the middle school at Alto-Edna Maguire School.

Architect Worley K. Wong, landscape architect Robert Royston and engineer Eugene Miller will present reports at the meeting, which will start at 8 p.m. at Park School.

The city and school district are negotiating a land exchange to allow construction of the middle school and a joint recreational development on the site, which lies south of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale Avenue intersection.

The board last night also heard a report from Marie Fisher on her work last year as human relations consultant for the district.

Gold Demand Slumps Sharply

PARIS (AP) — Demand for gold on the Paris market slumped sharply today, but trading was still greater than normal.

Only 5½ tons were handled compared with 10 tons yesterday. About one ton is the usual market quota.

Gold traders said that the fall-off in demand apparently reflected belief that the "vulnerability of the dollar has been checked."

It was the first day since Nov. 17, the day before devaluation of the British pound, that the Paris gold market was calm, with demand off.

COLD WAR ON POVERTY

Not poverty but mechanical failure caused the freeze out yesterday at the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, 1380 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. Mrs. Gene Brock peered into the office, which was closed for the day. Warmth was restored today, council spokesmen said, and the war on poverty has been resumed in comfort.

Commission Authorizes Boyle Park Drawings

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night authorized landscape architect Eldon Beck to proceed with preliminary drawings for restrooms and a children's playground area at Boyle Park, after hearing Beck's presentation of park development plans.

The commission also adopted a list of priorities drawn up by City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer for use of city recreation facilities. The priorities:

1. Programs administered by the parks and recreation department.

2. Events by non-profit, educational, recreational or cultural activity groups with open membership, which may be co-sponsored by the recreation department.

3. Events sponsored by non-profit service and other community organizations of unrestricted membership whose purpose is recognized primarily as a service to the citizens of Mill Valley.

4. Events sponsored by non-profit resident private groups or organizations including but not limited to closed membership clubs, fraternal orders and service clubs.

The commission was briefed on the city-school district negotiations for project 17 by liaison Councilman George E. Wickham.

Warning Issued On Stolen Paychecks

San Rafael police issued a warning to city merchants and banks today to be on the lookout for any of the 6,000 payroll checks reported stolen from Macy's of San Francisco over the weekend.

Inspector Gerald R. Souza said the checks were numbered from 66001 to 72000 and drawn on the Bank of America, San Francisco. He warned that attempts may be made to cash the checks in Marin County.

Half of the world's population over 15 years of age cannot read or write.

New Traffic Layout Wins Initial Nod

A new traffic layout for Miller Avenue and relocation of the Camino Alto-East Blithedale Avenue intersection were approved in principle last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Both changes were recommended by the two consultant firms working on the city's 701 plan, Cooke and Sedway of San Francisco, and Duncan and Jones of Berkeley.

The commission told Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon and city engineer Stanley M. Bala to prepare a precise diagram of the intersection and a cost estimate of the relocation for study at the Dec. 11 commission meeting.

The intersection would be moved about 150 feet east so Camino Alto would run east of a grocery and service station at the corner. The commission also recommended the intersection be redesigned to encourage traffic from Highway 101 to drive downtown Via Camino Alto and Miller instead of East Blithedale Avenue.

Relocation should be part of a package, the commission said, including extension of Miller Avenue to Highway 101 and redesign of Miller between Reed and Millwood streets.

Traffic lanes on Miller would all go along the west side, and parking areas would be moved from the center of the street to the east side.

Two sections of the 701 plan remain to be studied, the downtown area and the Alto Center commercial area.

$2.7 Billion Foreign Aid Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $2.7 billion foreign aid appropriation was approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today.

Faculty Urges An Open Campus

SAN JOSE (UPI)—The council representing San Jose State College's faculty condemned student activists yesterday by saying the campus should remain open to all job recruiters.

The academic council also endorsed President Robert D. Clark's handling of last week's riotous demonstrations which broke out during interviews conducted by the Dow Chemical Co., maker of napalm.

More than 2,000 students battled police before being repelled by clubs and tear gas. Several injuries and 19 arrests resulted.

First Hot Chocolate Then Robbery Of $71

Two young men calmed their jitters with a cup of hot cocoa, then held up Julian's Strawberry Shell service station at 798 Redwood Highway for $71 last night, the Marin Sheriff's office reported.

Station attendant Richard Lee James of 24 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, said the robbers, aged about 23, pulled their auto behind the station building at about 10 p.m.

The men came into the lubrication room and bought cups of hot chocolate from a vending machine, then one returned to the car, he said.

The other asked for a dollar's worth of change.

When James opened the cash box, he noticed the man had his hand in his sweater. He gestured with the sweater as if it hid a gun and said.

"Take the money out real slow. Keep it low and hand it to me."

James complied.

The robber herded James into a storeroom and warned him to stay there. When the attendant ventured out, the robbers were gone, deputies said.

Forehead Cut In Car Crash

A Belvedere girl was cut on the forehead yesterday in a three-car rear-end collision on Highway 101 north of the Alto Wye.

The California Highway Patrol reported cars involved were driven by Andrea Stepens Never Espe, 32, of 21 Edgewood Avenue, Mill Valley; Laura Lillian Cochran, 39, of 45 Tamal Vista Drive, Corte Madera, and Scott Morgan Nobel, 16, of 67 West Shore Road, Belvedere. All were southbound.

Kathleen Gertrude Walker, 16, a passenger in Noble's car, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Tot Is Bruised; Falls From Auto

A three-year-old boy from Travis Air Force Base suffered multiple bruises about his head and body at 8:30 p.m. yesterday when he fell out of the back end of his father's station wagon as it was eastbound on Highway 37 near the Petaluma River bridge, according to Hamilton Air Force Base officials.

Bradley H. Golmb, son of Capt. and Mrs. Roger Golmb, was treated at the base hospital.

How To Get In Shape Before You Hit Those Ski Slopes—

More than 90 per cent of all ski injuries are caused by poor physical condition, fatigue, and overconfidence in skiing ability.

THE FIRST STEP in accident prevention is to get into physical condition and stay that way. Before your skiing season starts, loosen up your leg and thigh muscles. Trot and jog awhile each day. When you walk, take long strides with a definite kick-off on slightly bent legs.

DURING THE SEASON spend 10 minutes a day in knee bends and waist bends. Walking on tiptoe is good exercise for the ankles. To develop the thighs, sit on the edge of a table and straighten the legs slowly. When you are able to extend the legs without their trembling, add two pounds of weight on each foot and continue the exercise. A simple home device for adding weight is to put canned goods in a pillow case. Increase gradually until you can extend a weight of 35 to 40 pounds without a tremor. Maintain these daily exercises throughout the skiing season.

A SKIER WHO IS TIRED is more susceptible to injury, because he tends to become careless and is more likely to lose control of his body's coordination. Get enough sleep before the trip and eat well. Most important, don't overdo it. If you are to tired to brake or turn suddenly, you may become a casualty.

DURING YOUR SKIING WEEKEND, meals should include food with high energy content. Don't skip meals. Munch on raisins or chocolate during the day to help keep supplied with energy.

IT IS IMPERATIVE that the beginner receive ski instruction from someone who is thoroughly qualified to teach. If he tries to learn alone, he may teach

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

He Took Brother's Car, Hit Him, Complains Of Double Punishment

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 19 year old college sophomore, living at home. My brother is 18, has a full-time job, so he can afford a car. I have none, but borrow the family wheels occasionally.

Well, Saturday night I had a big date. The folks were using their car and I asked by brother for the loan of his. He said, "No!" I was burned because he just planned to go off with the guys, so I took his keys while he was in the shower and went off with his car.

He told Dad and when I got home I was grounded for two weeks. That made me pretty darn mad, so I routed by brother out of bed and pasted him in the mouth for being a fink.

Well, Dad heard the commotion. He tore up to the room, bent me over the bed and gave me a spanking. He's a big man. I took it. Dad has never spared the rod, but I thought I had outgrown this sort of treatment. My last spanking was when I was 15. In addition, I'm still grounded for two weeks.

Now I ask you, Helen, isn't a 19 year old guy too big to be whacked? They don't convict a man twice for the same crime, so why should I be doubly punished, just because my brother is selfish.—JERRY

DEAR JERRY:

Isn't a 19 year old too big for a "thine's mine" attitude that produces a fat lip for the guy who disagrees? Also, two crimes rated double punishment.

Hopefully this "stern" discipline cleared the air and taught all three of you a lesson: You—to respect other's property; your brother—to be more generous; and your father—not to lose his cool.

DEAR HELEN:

"A GUY" said he didn't like promiscuous girls and he's sure like to find one who wasn't a pushover when he tested her.

Instead of telling the stupid girls to stop being pushovers, why don't these darn boys stop pushing?—A GAL

DEAR HELEN:

That "tester" GUY says he doesn't want to marry a tramp. Well, I don't want to marry a tester!—DIDN'T ACCEPT

DEAR HELEN:

I'm a 16 year old girl who has done some research too. This:

1. "Popular" guys of 15 and 16 usually "handsome" in reverse. Like — "some hands!" Like maybe a hundred per guy. Avoid 'em!

2. Older fellows of 17 and 18 are more mature. They take your word for it, and they are satisfied at a couple of kisses. They appreciate girls for what they are, not just big makeouts.

3. When you go to a party, you can be sure the younger the teens are, they more they pair off in dark corners. Older teens like to sit aroun dand talk. They discuss interesting things too.

4. When a fellow says all girls are tramps, he means all girls he knows. Like gravitates to like.

5. You don't have to give in to get dates. But you do have to be choosy.—NO TRAMP

DEAR HELEN:

The guy who wants to play around with tramps while dating, then expects a good girl when he's "ready for something important like marriage, ought to be sent to the bargain basement right along with the girls he helped put there. When are girls going to get smart and demand the same standard of virtue that boys demand of them. Such boys do exist, and I'll wager they're more manly than those creeps who have so much "proving" to do before marriage.

This idea that getting experience insures sexual compatibility later on is totally wrong. Trust, consideration, kindness, the desire to give happiness are the bases for happy marriage. You gain none of these in backseat encounters. More often, those who sow wild oats end up with a harvest of thistle, a lifetime of regrets.—OLDER OBSERVER

'Holiday '67' This Weekend In Novato

"Holiday Show '67" is the theme of the two-day exhibit of holiday decor and more than a dozen bazaar booths to be held at the Novato Community House beginning at 7 p.m., Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. George Whitten is chairman of the event which is being sponsored by the Novato Garden Club, Inc. and the Parks and Recreation Department of the City of Novato.

Mesdames Lee Wakefield, Fred Kuhl and Earl Wilson of Petaluma will judge the special children's category at the exhibit. They are members of the Luther Burbank District of the California Garden Clubs, Inc.

BAZAAR BOOTHS will be located in the main hall of the Community House with the exception of the garden club's Christmas green sales booth which will be located in the council chambers. Fourteen decorated trees will be displayed in the lobby.

DEMONSTRATIONS of tin can crafting will be given by Mrs. Roy O. York at 8 p.m. Friday and at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Grover C. Owen is chairman of the booth sponsored by the Donald V. Westlund Auxiliary 7816, Veterans of Foreign Wars. All members have assisted in making sales items including aprons, tea towels, pillow case, Christmas wreaths and small gift items.

Marian Baccaglio and Clifford Bowen are in charge of the Aggies 4-H Club "Odds and Ends of Christmas" booth.

Fruitcakes and gingerbread houses will be offered by the Novato Chapter, Junior Social Service Auxiliary, with Mrs. Donald McGillis as chairman.

"THE SWEET TOOTH" booth is a project of the Novato Oak Lodge Auxiliary. Homemade candies will be offered for sale said Mrs. John Davies, chairman. Proceeds will be used in the club's work with mentally retarded teen-age girls at Sonoma State Hospital.

MEMBERS OF the North Bay Artists, Inc. will operate a booth under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Baugh. Handpainted Christmas cards, monoprints, collages, handcrafted jewelry, mosaic items, matted water colors and small pictures will be featured.

Novato Garden Club members will offer fresh greens, conecraft ribbons and bows, table decorations and lavender sachet. Mrs. York is chairman.

Tote bags feather flowers and arrangements, wreaths, pine cones and handmade gift items will be for sale in the Novato Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints Church. Mrs. Douglas Joslin is chairman.

Costumed members of the Novato Minors Club will have a booth selling tickets to the club's upcoming production of "First Visit from Outer Space."

"Boutique Noel" booth is sponsored by Novato Sunny Hills Guild No. 2, under the direction of Mrs. James W. Studley. All sales items have been handcrafted by the organizations' members.

P. T. OLLIE'S WORKSHOP, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Fred Pettersen is a project of Olive School Parent-Teacher Association. They will have antiqued pictures, memo books, knit slippers and holiday aprons and teasel trees on sale with proceeds to benefit the school beautification fund.

Sylvan Circle 115 will offer refreshments to the show's shoppers and visitors at their coffee and cake booth. Mrs. David Johnson and Mrs Sebastian Tallitsch are co-chairmen.

GOOD SHEPHERD Lutheran Church women will also have a booth offering tree ornaments and small gifts. Mrs. Gerald D. Long is chairman.

Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch is chairman of the Novato Federated Women's Club's "Potpourri" booth which will offer items such as homemade breads and needlework.

SKI SLOPE SAFETY—

himself bad position and posture habits, and he may develop techniques which expose himself and others to danger.

A FEW OTHER TIPS: Ski with proper equipment. Watch snow conditions; there may be midday softening of the snow and, as the sun sets, trail conditions may change rapidly. Never ski alone — if you get hurt, a ski buddy can get help.

FROSTBITE FALLACY: Do not rub frostbitten parts with snow! Rubbing increases risk of gangrene. Symptoms are pink skin just before frostbite develops, changing to white or greyish-yellow. Initial pain quickly subsides and the victim feels cold and numb — usually not aware of frostbite. In giving first aid, 1) cover affected area with a warm hand or woolen material (hands may be tucked under armpits), 2) get victim inside, 3) place frostbitten part in lukewarm (not hot) water or gently wrap in blankets, 4) let circulation re-establish itself naturally, 5) give a warm, nonalcoholic drink, 6) when fingers or toes are involved, encourage gentle exercise when they are warmed. Never use hot water bottles or heat lamps.

Dan Morton Weds Jane K. Arbini

Jane Kathryn Arbini exchanged vows with Dan Thomas Morton in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Saturday at Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Mario Arbini of San Anselmo.

Best man was Ronald Swanson of Santa Cruz, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and showing guests to their seats were Gary Miller of San Rafael and Dennis Hobbs of Albany.

The new Mrs. Morton was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed by Irving Lundborg and Co., San Francisco. Her sister is Mrs. Margaret Harris of San Anselmo, and her grandmothers are Mrs. John Schroeder of Petaluma and Mrs. Antone Arbini of San Rafael.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Leonard Morton of Pinole, and the brother of Mrs. Ronald Swanson of Santa Cruz. He is a graduate of Watsonville High School and is employed by Royal-Globe Insurance Co. in San Francisco.

A reception was held in the church hall. The couple will live in San Pablo.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK W. DICE

Nancy Kentzel Marries Frank Dice In The City

Nancy Katherine Kentzel, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. John Joseph Kentzel of San Rafael, exchanged vows with Frank William Dice in a 4:15 p.m. double ring ceremony Nov. 3 in San Francisco.

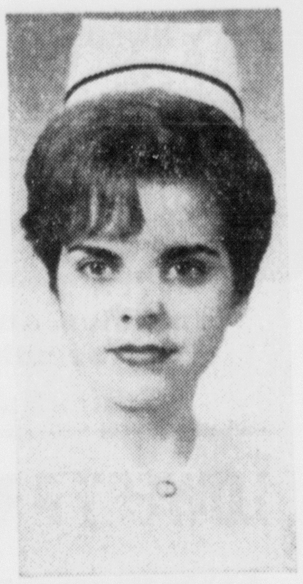
Nancy wore a white street length dress and had as her maid of honor Nancy Wood of San Francisco. Best man was Vincent Biello of Daly City.

Nancy attended the Convent of the Sacred Heart in San Francisco and was graduated from Ursuline High School in Santa Rosa. She attended the University of San Francisco and was a recorder in San Francisco City Hall before her marriage.

After graduating from Oregon State University, Frank was graduated from Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. He is the son of Mrs. Frank Child Dice of San Mateo and the late Mr. Dice.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, a reception was given for the couple Nov. 11 at the Presidio of San Francisco. The couple is now training for VISTA in Baltimore, Md., after which they will be sent somewhere in Appalachia for one year. Frank expects to return to San Francisco to practice law after their tour in VISTA is finished.

Lt. Murnane Will Claim Miss Hibbitt



VIRGINIA HIBBITT

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Hibbitt of Louisville, Ky., have announced the engagement of their daughter Virginia Lee to Lt. Frank Eugene Murnane of Abilene, Tex. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Murnane of San Anselmo.

The future bride is the sister of Mrs. Charles Timperman, Edwin, William and Susan Hibbitt, all of Louisville, and John Hibbitt of San Antonio, Texas. She was graduated from Loretto High School and St. Joseph's Infirmary School of Nursing in Louisville, and is an Air Force nurse at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Miss.

Her fiance was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, and from the University of California in February 1966, where he was a member of Chi Phi. He is stationed at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene.

After a noon wedding at St. Martha's Catholic Church in Louisville on Dec. 16, the couple will live in Abilene.

Triple C Plans A Christmas Tea

Mill Valley Community Church Club president Mrs. Ray W. Hawksley has invited members and their guests to the Christmas tea to be held on Dec. 6 at 1 p.m. in the parish hall.

The program will be presented by the Tamalpais High School choir directed by Laurence Nelson. He is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and earned his master's degree in music at Los Angeles College. He came to Tamalpais High School in 1965.

The program will consist of Christmas music and selections from Vivaldi's "Gloria." A group of Madrigal singers composed of choir members will also perform.

Tea is planned by Mrs. Robert Lane and her committee.

Upsilon Gamma's Pledge Ritual Set

Upsilon Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will have its pledge ritual tonight at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Wally Routsong, Novato.

Mrs. Eldon Swanson, president, and Mrs. Robert Ground, chapter advisor will conduct the ceremony with Mesdames James Chatfield, Harry Ibsen, Robert Tiejeiro and James Schyberg as the new pledges.

Is Youth For Action Taking 'Hippie' Look?

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Marin Youth for Action — once a clean-cut pressure group to push the teen-age point of view — may be drifting mindlessly under the influence of long-haired, hippie-type youngsters.

Parents raise criticism that the action organization is now nothing more than a group of hippies, declared one member, Kristi Kane, 17-year-old senior at San Rafael High School.

'FEW HIPPIES'

"Yes, we have a few members you could call hippies," she said, "but it is only because the straights don't come to meetings."

For some time, leaders have been unhappy at the trend. Earlier this year, co-chairmen Rick Beban, 18, and Mike Stevens, 18, resigned complaining of apathy and lack of social conscious among members.

Before he left, Beban said: "We started this thing very idealistically with good goals and good aims and we found out that apparently the youth of this county aren't capable of doing the work necessary for a youth organization."

TOO SOCIAL

Some of the working members were concerned that meetings in private homes often degenerated into social get-togethers with loud music and no serious discussion.

Kristi Kane resigned too, when she saw the way things were going but rejoined. "I came back because I felt sure something could be done to make it worth-while," said Kristi, who handles the group's publicity.

"When I saw the kids were back in a good way of working again I rejoined and I'm glad I did. I like to see it going places," said Kristi.

WILLING TO WORK

She admitted the Tuesday meetings at 8 p.m. in Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael were just social meetings at times. "But we have a few people who are very interested and want to get down to work," she added.

The Youth for Action has a membership of about 120 and about 50 attend meetings.

A change in sponsorship last June proved a minor setback. Marin County Superintendent of Schools stepped down in favor of a committee of 17 interested adults.

"Parents thought the county was discontinuing its sponsorship because it no longer wanted to be involved with the group. Really, the schools office was finding the cost of time and materials excessive," she said.

HELP APPEAL

She thought the committee system was working well but appealed for more adult participation.

"Of course we don have adults attending our meetings but most of them sit at the back and do not communicate. We want the adults to take part in it."

Ideas contributed by adults, she said, could be helpful to the group and would be good morale boosters.

One way for the "hippie" trend to be countered would be for more non-hippie members to get involved in the organization.

"Our constitution is very democratic," she said. "No one person or group can rule." Plain Youth for Action still has, to some extent, the same spirit with which it was formed but more people were needed to carry out the ideas, she said.

BIG CHALLENGE

A big challenge facing members was the search for a recreation room where "maybe for $1 a night" young people could gather for coffee, discussion or a game of ping-pong.

Present co-chairmen are Mary Ann Miller of Redwood High School and Jim Ragghanti of Marin Catholic.

Members are at present discussing a conference "to explain to parents what is going on." It may or may not win the same praise awarded a conference on drug abuse organized by the group in March.

Title of the new conference is "Long Hair, Drugs, Sex and Your Daughter," but it is not yet off the ground, said Kristi.

MUSIC REVIEW

An Intimate Style From Frenchman

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Charles Aznavour sang to an audience of one last night at the College of Marin gymnasium.

There were more than 500 people in the audience but this master of the intimate has his art so satisfactorily defined that each song, each look, each gesture was for one person alone. That person was the listener.

SONGS OF LOVE

For the women — particularly the women — Aznavour's songs spoke of love in a way that only he, a Frenchman, could speak it.

For the men, he gave expression to thoughts that are sometimes hard to express. Only felt.

Not all his songs, selected from his own vast and growing list of compositions, were about love but the former actor has found that a musical world, burdened by the mediocre, can still take more of the best of that kind.

At the end of nearly two hours of one song after the other, the audience was on its feet applauding and shouting for an encore.

TRAGIC-COMIC

There was the tragic-comic "You've Let Yourself Go" which despite its pathos, ends happily, and "Who?" about the man who wonders, sadly, about the wife who is so much younger than he.

A new one from Aznavour, "La Bohieme" tells of an artist who becomes successful and returns to Montemarte only to find everything changed. As it does everywhere in life, said the singer.

STRICTLY ADULT

His appeal is strictly adult and, as he explained last night, songs like "Je Te Rechaufferai" are best kept in his original French. He could not bear to bring himself to translate one particular line into English.

He was backed, in this program in the College of Marin's concert-lecture series, by a competent five-piece combo with arrangements extremely attractive to listen to.

"I don't sing the type of songs you expect a Frenchman to sing," Aznavour carefully explained. "I am a song writer so I sing my own songs, er . . . for sentimental reasons."

Also, he could have added, because they happen to be pure entertainment.

Tryouts Slated For Hellman Play

The Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts will hold tryouts and sign up technical staff next Monday and Dec. 6 for its production of the Lillian Hellman play, "Another Part of the Forest.

Tryouts and signup will be at 8 p.m. both nights at the Mill Valley Golf clubhouse. There are roles for eight women and five men.

The play, directed by A. J. Esta and produced by Sali Lieberman, will open Feb. 9 at the clubhouse to run for four weekends.

Marin Civic Ballet Slates 'Nutcracker'

The Marin Civic Ballet will give its ninth Christmas production of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" on Dec. 16 and 17 in San Rafael High School auditorium.

There will be a matinee and an evening performance both days, on Dec. 16 at 2:30 and 8 p.m., on Dec. 17 at 2 and 7:30 p.m.

Explorer To Present A Film On Greece

International explorer and photographer Spence Crilly will narrate his new film "Greece and the Greek Isles" tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in Olney Hall, College of Marin.

This is the final program of this year's Explorerama series sponsored by the Explorers Club of San Francisco and Associated Students of College of Marin. Proceeds will go toward scholarships at the college, and tickets are on sale at College of Marin book store and Orrick Travel Bureau in San Anselmo.

San Francisco Symphony's First Three Concerts Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stalemated contract talks have led to cancellation of the first three concerts of the season by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

The opening performance was set for tomorrow night, to be followed the next day by a matinee and then a Friday evening concert.

The Musician Union and State Conciliation Service said yesterday it was prepared to resume negotiations, broken off last Friday night.

However the chief negotiator for the San Francisco Symphony Association, attorney George Bahrs, said he would not be able to attend any further sessions until Wednesday because of prior commitments.

Despite the uncertainty, tickets were being sold for next week's concerts.

The major hurdle to settlement appears to be a union demand for a special auditioning committee—giving musicians a voice in selection of new players for the orchestra.

The union also wants a 40 week season at minimum pay of $9,000 per musician. The association wants a 35 week sea son at $7,000.

Lecture On Other Worlds Is Tonight

"Life on Other Worlds" will be topic of an illustrated lecture by Dr. Albert Hibbs, NBC science editor, at 8 p.m. today at the College of Marin.

The lecture, dealing with the question of whether intelligent beings exist elsewhere in the universe, is free to the public and is a part of the college's concert-lecture series.

'Anything Goes' To Be Presented

The Broadway musical "Anything Goes" will be the spring musical of the Novato Community Players, Paul Terry, publicity chairman, announced today.

The Cole Porter hit musical will be presented on May 3, 4, 10, 11, 17, and 18 according to Terry.

First produced in 1935, the show has such familiar numbers as "It's Delovely," "Friendship," "You're the Top," "Anything Goes," and "I Get a Kick Out of You."

Starting in January, the club will have a play reading committee to select the plays for the group one year in advance, Terry said.

Auto Group Against Rapid Transit Tax

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A California State Automobile Association survey of its membership indicated today a definite "no" for additional taxes on vehicles to pay for rapid transit.

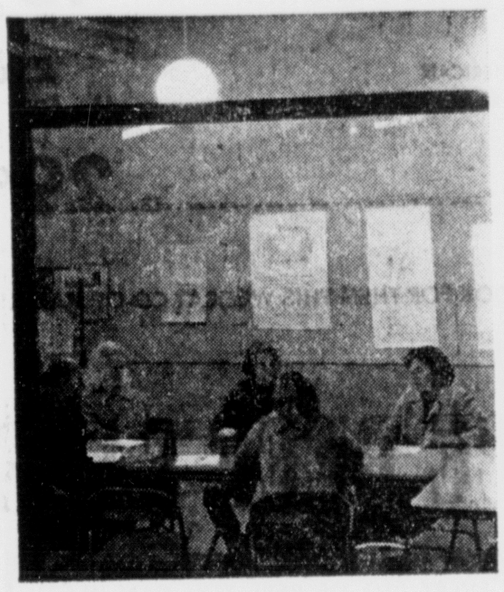
CO-OP MARIN OPEN HOUSE

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 7 TO 9 P.M.

71 TAMAL VISTA BLVD., CORTE MADERA



JUST WHAT'S CO-OP MARIN CELEBRATING?

It's our non-birthday party, because we're not even a year old yet. But since our handsome new supermarket opened last March, we've already added to our building. Co-op Marin's growing fast! 3,500 Marin families (in each family that's Dad, Mom, and probably several little peanut-butter sandwich eaters) have joined up to be member-shoppers. Thousands of other families who aren't members shop there too. And seven congenial neighbor businesses have joined us under our Co-op Marin roof, to give you shoppers even more services.

Come around Wednesday night and find out why—for thousands of families all over Marin from Sausalito to Point Reyes—all roads lead to Co-op Marin!

EVERYONE'S INVITED

Come, bring the kids, check out the merchandise, and we won't say a word if you pinch the avocados—lightly. Come and enjoy refreshments, entertainment, music, art-in-action, and movies and pony rides for the kids. Win a door prize. Bump into old friends from all over Marin. They'll tell you that:

- ANYONE CAN SHOP . . . you needn't belong to Co-op in order to shop there.
- ANYONE CAN JOIN . . . you needn't belong to another group in order to join up.

WHAT'S TO SEE AT CO-OP MARIN?

Besides all that supermarket Super-Variety and all that old-fashioned grocery store Super-Quality—here's what you'll find only at Co-op Marin:

- Our Kiddie Korral. That's where your 2-to-5 year olds have expert care—only the kids don't know it's expert, they just think they're having a ball—while you shop Co-op. If you like, you can leave your preschoolers there between 6:30 and 8:30 tomorrow night and meet the supervisor, Pat Hamill of Larkspur.
- Our staff Home Economist. She'll help you (no charge) on every home-making question from "What sandwich bread's the most nourishment for the best price?" to "What's the most luxurious holiday fruitcake recipe in the world?" Come meet her tomorrow night—she's Nancy Bratt of Mill Valley.
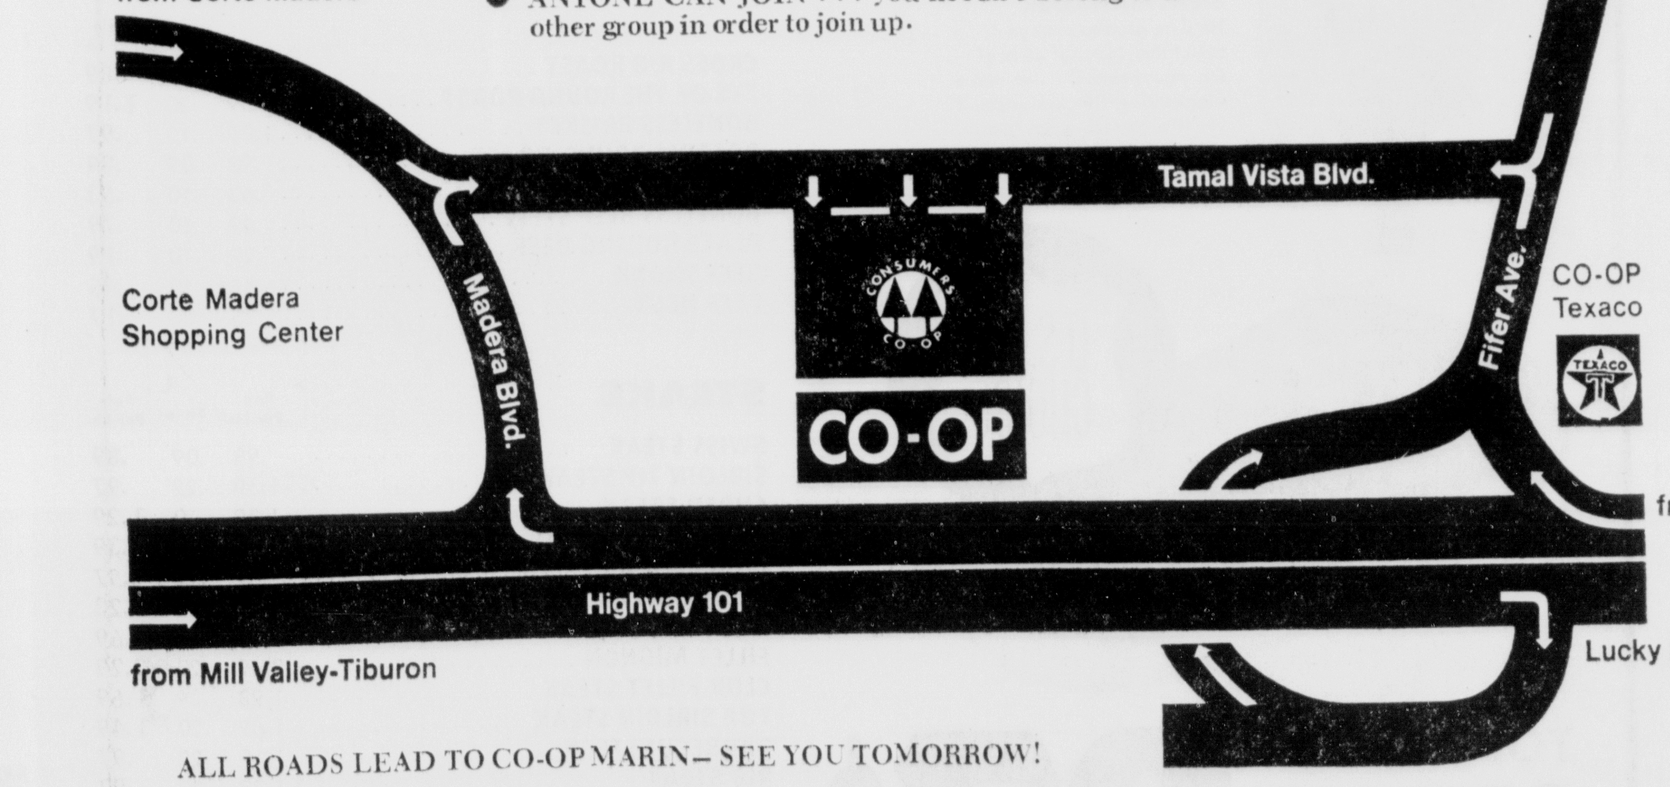
- Also only at Co-op Marin: a meeting room, free to community groups . . . ready information on consumer legislation . . . a big bulletin board "Swap Shop" for person-to-person buying and selling . . . clean restrooms, and you don't have to ask the manager and fall over crates of lettuce in the basement to get there.
- There's also our Coffee Bar. Not free—all of a dime a cup—but the good chats you'll enjoy there with friends are worth a million!



ALL ROADS LEAD TO CO-OP MARIN—SEE YOU TOMORROW!

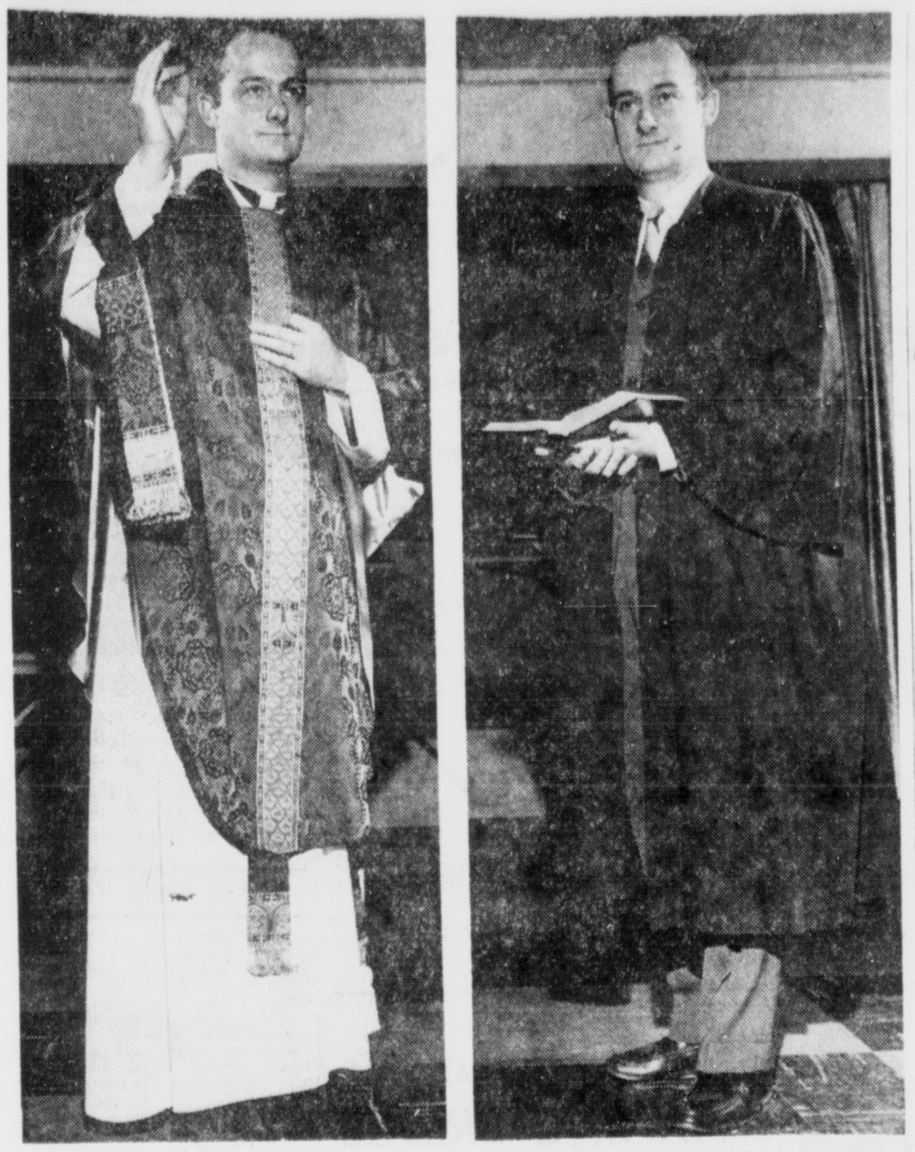
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1967 — 21



DUAL ROLE — Yes, both men are Rev. Richard N. Wilmington of Fairfax, where he serves both as the conservative vicar of St. Angustine's Episcopal Church and the progressive pastor of the United Church of Christ, a move apparently unprecedented in the history of the church. (Independent-Journal photos)

HISTORY IS MADE

From Episcopal Altar To United Church Pulpit

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

At 9:15 a.m. on any Sunday, Rev. Richard N. Wilmington conducts a service in Fairfax in the tried and true tradition of the Episcopal Church.

One hour and 45 minutes later, the service is over and a new congregation files quietly into the pews.

With the fresh rows of faces, comes a transformation.

Wilmington changes vestments and is no longer the esteemed and conservative vicar of St. Augustine's Episcopal Church.

In the eyes of the 11 a.m. congregation, he is suddenly that nice, progressive, free-thinking pastor of the United Church of Christ, Fairfax.

Exactly what is Wilmington up to? He is making Protestant church history.

In a move he says is unprecedented in the history of the church in the United States, an Episcopalian minister is being allowed to conduct services in a church with which Episcopalians are not in communion.

In effect, the vicar is permitted the dual role of pastor in a church, the ministers of which have never been legally recognized by Episcopalians since the birth of the Free Church movement.

On the lay level, it's rather like a vice president of General Motors being elected a chairman of a Chinese community farm. In thought, the United Church of Christ and the Episcopal Church are at the tip of two extremes.

But in one, practical and bold move, the congregations of both Fairfax churches have cut through the reams of red tape and rhetoric that have tied up scholars of the differing denominations for decades.

The Fairfax churches are NOT being united under one leadership, Wilmington was careful to emphasize.

"It is important that everyone understands that the long standing and valued traditions of the individual denominations are to be preserved.

"What this goes to show is that the churches are not so far apart to be totally unreconcilable although they may continue to have their own, quite valid ways of worshipping."

Shortage of a United Church pastor—and above all, shortage of money — prompted a start of negotiations between the churches six months ago.

For the past 18 months, St. Augustine's Episcopal Church has been allowed to share the Fairfax Community Church with the United Church. The services were completely separate. At the beginning of summer, the United Church found itself without a pastor, and the leaderless flock turned almost naturally to Wilmington, who was known and liked.

He stepped into the breach whenever the congregation could not supply their own visiting pastor. Meanwhile, the United Church pastoral committee went ahead to seek a replacement but, faced with rising salary costs, ended up asking themselves the question: "Why not have one minister for both congregations?"

It was an easy question for the United Church officials to ask. For this denomination — considered among the most progressively liberal of Protestants — had made similar arrangements with other churches.

The Episcopal hierarchy, on the other hand, was somewhat taken aback. It was, beyond doubt, against Episcopal Canon Law.

Wilmington knew this when he began to conduct United Church of Christ services several months ago. His bishop allowed him to conduct the service but not to administer Communion—which would have been in direct violation of the law.

"It was this law which provided the biggest stumbling block to negotiations," said Wilmington. It was through the offices of Bishop C. Kilmer Myers' of the California Episcopal Diocese, that negotiators were provided a neat loophole.

Wilmington explained: "This problem was worked out by turning to the liturgy of the Church of South India. This was the only church in the world which had a liturgy which allowed for participation between Congregational and Anglican bodies.

"As pastor of the United Church, it will be necessary for me to use the essentials of the Church of South India liturgy when I celebrate the Lord's Supper. That was the only way the arrangement could be legally acceptable to the Episcopal Church."

All members of the United Church of Christ congregation voted in favor of the Episcopal minister as their next pastor. To get this far, Wilmington has had several interviews by United Church officials.

Finally, blessing on the arrangement was given by Bishop Myers, Right Rev. Richard Millard, in charge of Episcopal missions, and the United Church of Christ Conference superintendent, Dr. Richard C. Norberg.

Wilmington will be installed as pastor early in December. Installed, he pointed out, not ordained. He added with a laugh: "Once again, we come up against this hang-up about the non-recognition of ministers."

Will he find being an Episcopalian minister one minute and a United Church pastor the next, a strain?

"When I am conducting an Episcopalian service, I am essentially a traditionalist," he replied. "A United Church service is totally different in every respect.

"I found it hard to get used to, but that will come with time."

He added: "This was a question of life and death for these two churches. I came far too expensive for any one of them to bear." His salary, $6,000 plus expenses, will be shared by the congregations of both churches.

"I'm in complete agreement, sir. A distinction should be made."

Arrests Of Juveniles In Marin Drop

Juvenile arrests in Marin County dropped during the first half of this year as compared to the same months last year, according to a mid-year summary by the Bureau of Criminal Statistics.

This was in contrast to the statewide figures which showed juvenile arrests up about five per cent as compared to Jan.-June, 1966.

RATE DROPS

In Marin juvenile arrests totaled 1,806 as compared to 2,001 during the first half of 1966. The rate of arrests dropped to 902.5 per 100,000 population as compared to 1,033 in the first half of 1966.

Juvenile arrest figures consisted of 235 major offenses (equivalent to an adult felony), 341 minor offenses (equivalent to a misdemeanor) and 1,230 for delinquent tendencies such as truancy and running away.

The bureau reported that most of the statewide increase in arrests resulted from drug arrests, but there was no breakdown in its report on drug arrests in Marin.

ARREST TOTALS

Juvenile arrest totals, including all categories, in Marin were:

Sheriff's Office, 186; Belvedere, 13; Corte Madera, 48; Fairfax, 151; Larkspur, 46; Mill Valley, 73; Novato, 436; Ross, 27; San Anselmo, 185; San Rafael, 579; and Sausalito, 62.

There were no figures for Tiburon which contracts with the Marin County Sheriff's Office for police protection.

Of the total, 939 were listed as "handled within the department," 51 referred to other agencies, and 816 referred to juvenile court or probation department.

The juvenile delinquency arrests also were below the total for the last half of 1966 when they totaled, 1,865.

Youngsters Vow To Back Tam Bonds

Tamalpais High School District trustees have not yet decided when to seek again a bond issue for new buildings, but they already have a pledge of support from a committee of elementary school children in Fairfax.

The Independent-Journal received this penciled communication pledging the youngsters to support a high school bond issue:

"We students want the new Tamalpais high school bonds to pass just as much as the teachers and other people. I think that if we students are to be the new education generation then it is up to the 43,000 voters to vote 'yes' on the Tamalpais High School bond. Students at Central School have started a committee and we are doing all we can to show that we are all interested in the bond. So why don't you all help by voting 'yes' next time? Please.

Bond Committee.
Fairfax Central School.
Larry Hadley.
Gregory Dee."

High school district trustees at their Nov. 20 meeting appointed a 10- member committee to plan another bond election. It did not, however, include any representative from the student body of Fairfax Central School.

Forming Budget Group On Agenda

The Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee will discuss setting up a Tiburon Peninsula budget and taxation study committee at a meeting tomorrow, it was announced today by Iris Suhl, secretary.

The board meets at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School.

Other agenda items include reports on the committee's study of Tiburon's proposed sign ordinance and on a master plan for trails on the peninsula, according to Mrs. Suhl.

Burglaries, Auto Thefts Rank High On Crime List

Burglaries and auto thefts ranked high on the list of felonies reported in Marin County during the first half of this year.

There were 1,168 felonies reported during January-June, with 670 of them burglaries and 224 auto thefts, according to a mid-year summary by the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics.

DIP IN RATE

The total for the period was slightly higher than during the same month during 1966, but there was a dip in the rate per population, the bureau reported.

The 1,168 was higher than the 1,153 felonies reported January-June, 1966, but the rate, 583.7 per 100,000 population was below the rate for the same months in 1966, 595.3.

There was a drop from the last half of 1966 when felony reports totaled 1,865 and the rate was 941.9.

There were 244 felony arrests during the first half of this year, as compared to 169 in the last half of 1966 and 209 in the first half of 1966, the bureau reported.

84 PER CENT

Felony complaints were filed in 84 per cent of the cases, and the conviction rate was 86.3 per cent, both above the state average, according to the report.

Of those convicted, 62.1 per cent were placed on probation, 27.6 per cent were sent to prison and 10.1 per cent to county jail.

The highest number of felony reports, 403, were filed with the sheriff's office which covers unincorporated territory and Tiburon, while San Rafael led the cities with 298.

Crimes reported in Marin during the first half of this year were:

Sheriff's Office — Murder, 1; robbery, 23; assault, 11; burglary, 241; theft, 63; auto theft, 59; forcible rape, 5; forgery and checks, 16, and all other, 96.

California Highway Patrol — Auto theft, 5.

Belvedere — Assault, 2; burglary, 6; auto theft, 1.

Corte Madera — Assault, 4; burglary, 22; theft, 3; auto theft, 9; forcible rape, 1; forgery and checks, 12; and all other, 1.

Fairfax — Assault, 1; burglary, 23; theft, 3; auto theft, 5; forgery and checks, 1; all other, 2.

Larkspur — Burglary, 37; theft, 9; auto theft, 7; forgery and checks, 4; all other, 10.

Mill Valley — Robbery, 3; assault, 4; burglary, 68; theft, 10; auto theft, 12; forcible rape, 1; felony and checks, 14; all other, 27.

Novato — Assault, 14; burglary, 53; theft, 8; auto theft, 13; forgery and checks, 30; all other, 27.

San Anselmo — Assault, 2; burglary, 21; theft, 1; auto theft, 5; forgery and checks, 3; all other, 4.

San Rafael — Robbery, 4; assault, 5; burglary, 143; theft, 61; auto theft, 83; forcible rape, 2; forgery and checks, 62; and all other, 52.

Sausalito — Robbery, 3; assault, 3; burglary, 51; theft, 25; auto theft, 25; forgery and checks, 9; all other, 19.

There was no breakdown for the city of Tiburon, which contracts with the sheriff's office for police protection.

NO BREAK-DOWN

There was no break-down in the report comparing the number of felonies in various categories to the number reported in the last six months of 1966 or the first six months of 1966.

Marin fared better than the state as a whole where crime rose almost 12 per cent in the first half of this year as compared to the same months last year.

Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch reported that statewide the greatest rise was in grand theft, burglary and robbery categories.

Probation On Theft Of Cash

Steve Howerd, 20, of Marin City yesterday received a suspended nine-month jail sentence for the theft of $230 from L. D. Blatz at the Community Store, 371 Shoreline Highway, Tamalpais Valley, Feb. 17.

Howard, originally charged with armed robbery for the offense, was placed on two years probation by Superior Judge Harold J. Haley.

As conditions of probation, Judge Haley ordered Howard to spend 60 days in county jail and make full restitution to Balatz.

Howard was tried on the robbery charge in May, but a mistrial resulted after a juror was the victim of an assault in Mill Valley. He pleaded guilty to the grand theft charge just before a second trial was to begin.

New Convent Complex Wins Zone Approval

A new convent complex for the Sisters of the Holy Family at Harbor Point, Strawberry, won the approval of County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill, yesterday after a hearing at Civic Center.

Architect John Grim and developer John Reardon, both of San Francisco, said the new complex would replace old facilities located at 405 East Strawberry Drive. An old two and one-half story structure with accommodations for about 30, will be removed.

Five new units, each with five bedrooms, will be built in semicircular fashion around a swimming pool. Also to be built are a chapel with seating for 50, and a two-story building with recreation and dining facilities below and 10 bedrooms on the second floor.

The property is about two acres in size. Ten parking spaces will be provided on the site.

Cordill said he would grant the use permit, subject to a design review of the entire building complex.

Cordill also granted a variance to Jean M. Ostaggi, legalizing a building site in Bayside Acres, on the south side of Manzanita Avenue, near Main Drive. The lot was both too small in total square footage and too narrow in width, but attorney Roderick P. Martinelli reported that Mrs. Ostaggi had been able to purchase adjoining land to add to the lot to total size of over an acre.

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1967 with 33 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1520, Ferdinand Magellan entered the Pacific Ocean on his way around the world, the first European to sail that body of water from the East.

In 1956, the United States expressed concern to the Syrian government over substantial shipments of Soviet arms to Syria.

In 1963, Cape Canaveral was renamed Cape Kennedy after the late President John F. Kennedy.

A thought for the day — President George Washington said: "The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and alter their Constitution of government."

Opening lead — ♠ Q

TEN OF CLUBS

Declarer took the ace of spades and led a spade to his king. On this trick East gravely deposited the ten of clubs.

South cashed the ace of diamonds and led a diamond toward dummy. When West discarded the deuce of clubs it was clear that the diamonds could not be established. South then feebly led dummy's last trump, giving West his trump trick.

West returned the seven of clubs, and South put up dummy's ace, feeling sure from the discard that East had the king of clubs. Declarer then ruffed a diamond and ran his trumps, saving two diamonds and two hearts in the dummy.

It was a badly managed squeeze. East saved diamonds, and West saved hearts. Down one.

VITAL DISCARD

South handed East the chance to flimflam him out of the club finesse. South should cash dummy's third diamond, discarding the jack of clubs from his hand. Only then can he afford to give up the trump trick to West.

West must, of course, return a club. Now South can afford to try a finesse with dummy's queen since if East plays the king South can ruff.

Actually, the finesse would work, and South would make his slam with five spades, two hearts, three diamonds and two clubs.

Neurological Talks Are Set

Mrs. Frances B. DeWitt, founder of the DeWitt Reading Clinic in San Rafael, and John I. Arena, director of extension services for the clinic, will speak to members of the Marin Chapter of the California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children Thursday.

They will describe a "movement efficiency" program in which persons are taught to correctly perceive what they hear, see and touch and so develop learning abilities.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the library of the Bahia Vista School, San Rafael.

LOSING FACE FOR HISTORY

The facade of a century-old butcher shop in Olema is being carefully removed to stand again in a new museum of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. It will be part of exhibits in the Hall of Everyday Life in the American past. It was opened as a shop more than 100 years ago by Joseph Gamboni Sr., whose descendents still live in the area. Out of use for some time, vines covered most of the building and hid it from view. Here, workmen are filmed by a crew directed by Alan Atkins, art director of the extension media center, University of California, Berkeley.

John Cosmas Estate Held In Excess Of $200,000

Cosmas, who lived at 329 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, died in a local hospital Friday after a brief illness.

His wife, Mrs. Phopho Cosmas, filed his will with Marin Probate Court yesterday and estimated the value of his estate.

Cosmas left half his personal property, outside of Greece, to his wife and the other half to his three daughters, Mrs. John Yemelos, Anna and Maria Cosmas, all of Kentfield.

To three sisters who reside in Greece, he left $10,000 apiece. To five nephews in Greece, he left $5,000 apiece. He also left $1,000 apiece to five institutions in his native Syra, Greece.

Cosmas came to the U.S. 27 years ago and resided the past 18 years in Marin County. He was part owner of the Hermes Steamship Agency in San Francisco and was a former merchant marine captain.

Innocent Plea To Ring Theft

Janice Johnson, also known as Laura Lewis, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge she stole a $2,800 ring from a San Rafael jewelry store Aug. 15, 1966.

Miss Johnson, 20, is accused of stealing the diamond ring from Herbert Rohrer Jewlers, 1219 Fourth Street. When a clerk handed her the ring for inspection, she allegedly bolted out the door and escaped in a waiting car.

She is to appear in Municipal Court at 3 p.m. Friday for a preliminary hearing.

Demo Party's Future To Be Panel Subject

"The Future of the Democratic Party in California — Is There an Alternative to Johnson?" is the subject of a debate to be held Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium at the College of Marin.

Debating will be Robert L. Coate, Northern California chairman for the Democratic Party and a supporter of President Johnson, and Fred Warner Neal, government professor at Claremont College.

Panelists will include Supervisor Thomas T. Storer; Dr. George McCabe, Somoma State College administrative director and 1964 Democratic candidate for Congress, and Albert E. Gately, chairman of the Marin County Democratic Central Committee.

Moderator of the debate, sponsored by the Marin Democratic Assembly, will be Dr. Samuel Le Count, College of Marin counselor and chairman of the Faculty Committee for a Negotiated Settlement.

Mistreating Horse Costly—A $250 Fine

Americo John Guibergia, a Petaluma tallow and soap company truck driver, was found guilty by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein in Marin Municipal Court yesterday of mistreating a 30-year-old horse.

Judge Goldstein set a $250 fine for the driver for Royal Tallow and Soap Co. in Petaluma, but stayed payment of the fine to allow Guibergia to appeal his conviction.

Guibergia hauled the horse unsecured in the rear of a truck from Muir Beach Aug. 17.

Bernard M. Weller, a state humane officer, saw the animal fall into the side of the truck near Sausalito. He halted Guibergia and summoned a sheriff's deputy to shoot the horse.

Mrs. Evelyn Pervier of Muir Beach signed the complaint against Guibergia, saying she arranged for removal of the horse, but Guibergia failed to live up to an agreement to kill the animal before taking it away.

The old chestnut-colored gelding was "so ill he could hardly stand up, let alone walk," Mrs. Pervier said. She paid the firm $15 to take the animal from Old Golden Gate Dairy in Muir Beach.

The Berlin Airlift had its biggest day April 16, 1949, when 12,940 tons of supplies were delivered by 1,398 flights.

The wart hog of tropical Africa has been called the world's ugliest animal, according to Collier's Encyclopedia.

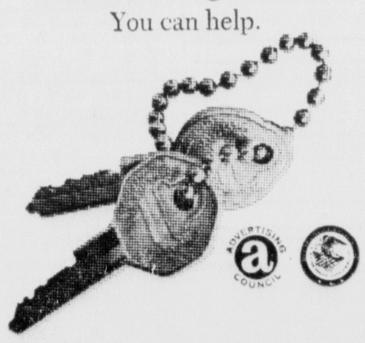
Kill a child.

The second you save by carelessly walking away from your unlocked car may cost a child his life. A stolen car has a 200 times greater chance of accident than other cars. Innocent people are killed or crippled. Last year, nearly 100,000 stolen cars were involved in accidents. Many fatal to one or more people. Teen-age joyriders —who steal most of the cars— are often scared, always dangerous. They watch for cops, not children crossing the street. You can help.



Don't help a good boy go bad.

Building Construction and Site Development

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation, and services required for the construction of the Marin County Fair Building-Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Marin County Civic Center, Highway 101 and North San Pedro Road, Marin County, California, including Site Development. It is to be noted that this is a rebid with modifications of building construction and site development work for which bids were originally accepted on September 26, 1967.
2. Each bid shall be in accordance with the Drawings, Specifications and Contract Documents prepared therefor, now on file with the Director of Public Works, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center: William Wesley Peters, Architect, Taliesin Associated Architects; Aaron G. Green, Architect Associated. The Drawings for Site Development are as prepared by the Marin County Department of Public Works. Building construction drawings and specifications are exactly as issued originally but are accompanied by "Rebid Addendum" which indicates modifications to the contract documents forming a part of this rebid. Site development work shall be in accordance with revised plans and specifications dated 11/14/67.
3. Drawings, Specifications and Contract Documents may be examined at the office of Aaron G. Green, AIA, 319 Grant Avenue, San Francisco, California; at the office of Alexander Boome, Mechanical and Electrical Engineer, 439 Tasso Street, Palo Alto, California; or at the office of the Director of Public Works of Marin County.
4. Bidders wishing to bid are requested to contact the office of Aaron G. Green, 982-7398, so that drawings may be reserved.
5. Site Development work plans and specifications may be obtained from the Marin County Department of Public Works or from the Architect.
6. Three complete sets of Drawings and Specifications may be obtained by each bidder at the office of Aaron G. Green upon deposit of $75.00 per set (Building Construction, Site Development and Stage Equipment).
7. Deposit will be refunded if bidder returns documents in good, usable condition, with added marks erased, within 10 days after bid opening.
8. Additional sets of prints or individual prints of individual drawings or sections of specifications may be purchased via your order to the Royal Blueprint Company, 70 Fremont Street, San Francisco, California.
9. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the County of Marin, in accordance with regulations as set forth in "Instructions to Bidders", and shall be accompanied by certified check or bid bond, as specified in Instructions to Bidders.
10. Bids including subcontractor listing, alternates, and unit prices for Building Construction and Site Development shall be sealed and filed with the County Clerk, Chambers of the Board of Supervisors, Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center, on or before 4:00 P.M. P.S.T., December 12, 1967, and will be opened and read publicly at that time.
11. The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids or unit prices, waive any irregularities in any bid and to contract work with whomever, and in whatever manner it may determine. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of 45 days after the date set for the opening thereof.
12. All Bidders and Subcontractors shall be licensed at the time of bid date by the Contractor's State License Board of the State of California to perform the work herein described.
13. A bond will be required for the faithful performance of the Contract in an amount of not less than 100% of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than 50% of the bid.
14. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which work is to be performed for each craft or type or workman or mechanic needed to execute this contract. The prevailing rates so determined are based on an 8 hour day, 40 hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreement between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.
15. WAGE SCALE

Summary

This section lists the minimum wages that may be paid on work on this project, in conformance with the Statutes of the State of California.

Schedule Explanation

a. The prevailing rates are based on an 8 hour day, 40 hour week. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and Construction Industry Groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.

TO THE PROPERTY, defendants.

YOU ARE DIRECTED to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within TEN DAYS AFTER THE SERVICE ON YOU OF THIS SUMMONS, IF SERVED WITHIN THE ABOVE NAMED COUNTY, OR WITHIN THIRTY DAYS IF SERVED ELSEWHERE (except that if this action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

YOU MAY SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY ON ANY MATTER CONNECTED WITH THE COMPLAINT OR THIS SUMMONS. SUCH ATTORNEY SHOULD BE CONSULTED WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT STATED IN THIS SUMMONS FOR FILING A WRITTEN PLEADING TO THE COMPLAINT.

Said proceeding is brought to condemn, for the public use, to-wit: the construction, development and operation of a low rent housing project to accomodate approximately thirty-six (36) dwelling units for persons of low income, with a prior occupancy preferance to eligible elderly persons of low income, the following real property situated, lying and being in the County of Marin, State of California, to-wit:

Parcel 1:

A strip of land 10 feet in width, lying 5 feet on both sides of the following described line:

Beginning at a point on the northwesterly line of that parcel referred to in the judgment of condemnation, recorded Oct. 10, 1966, in Book 2084, Official Records, at Page 367, Marin County, California, said point lying N 37° 37' E 10.00 feet from the most westerly corner of said parcel;

Thence S 67° 45' W 45 feet more or less to the northeasterly line of the parcel described in deed from Schmidt to San Rafael City Schools, recorded August 20, 1958, in Book 1211, O.R. at Page 226, Marin County Records. Extending and shortening the side lines so as to terminate at the property lines. Being a portion of the lands of Paul Schmidt, et al, recorded April 29, 1946, in Book 521 O.R. at Page 15, Marin County Records.

Parcel 2:

A parcel of land 5 feet wide lying adjacent to and Southwesterly of the following described line:

Beginning at a point in the Northwesterly line of San Pedro Road, said point being the most Southerly corner of that certain parcel of land as described in the Declaration of Trust recorded April 21, 1967, in Book 2123 at page 249, Official Records of Marin County;

Running thence from said point of beginning along the Southwesterly line of said parcel North 58° 58' West 435.19 feet.

YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED TO APPEAR and show cause, if any you have, why said property should not be condemned as prayed for in the complaint on file in the above entitled action, and unless you appear and answer said complaint as above required, said plaintiff will apply to said court for the relief demanded therein.

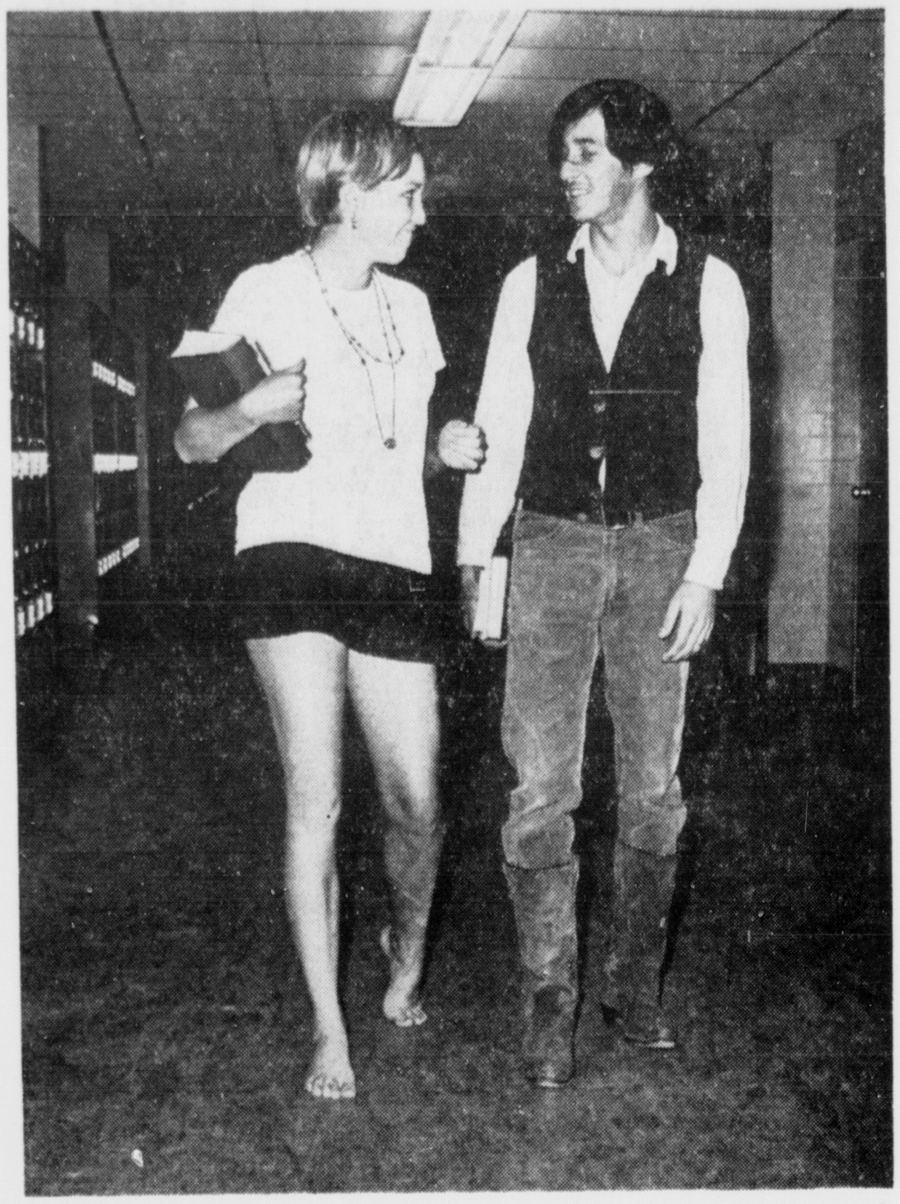
A Uniform School Dress Code Is In The Works



I SAY! — Very nice indeed but not exactly the type of student dress liked by San Rafael High School administration. Becky Paschal and Kent Housman demonstrate the sort of clothes that force frowns to faculty faces.

Short Skirts, Long Hair Now Up To Each School

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Settle in your seats, students, and concentrate on the problem set for today.

If a skirt two inches above the knee is permissible in school A, why is it frowned upon in school C? A boy can grow long hair in school X, but is dressed down in school Y. Why?

While students puzzle over the problem, principals of schools throughout the San Rafael district are meeting together in an effort to find an easy solution.

So diverse the attire from school to school, Supt. John F. Plank of the San Rafael School District has formed a committee of principals and other teachers to discuss a district-wide dress code.

Each school has its own dress standards for students and no over-all code has been attempted until now.

Chairman of the committee is Frances Mason, a teacher at Oliver Hartzell School. She preferred not to talk in depth about what she termed "a hot subject" until the committee had arrived at some decision.

"Meetings of the committee are still in the discussion stage and we have not yet decided if a district-wide code is even necessary," said Miss Mason.

But Plank and the high school principals agreed on one thing. There was no foundation in a statement in the San Rafael High School student newspaper that the committee was being formed "due to complaints of the present rules which are not acceptable."

Said Plank: "We are merely discussing the possibility of bringing many of the different codes in line with each other. Some of the dress rules speak in general terms, whereas there is some talk of the need to be more specific."

With dresses growing shorter and male haircuts growing longer, principals are having to thumb through teenage magazines these days to keep in touch with student dress changes.

There is no doubt that what was good enough for mom and dad doesn't get a second glance from today's generation.

"At one time, dress standards were something we could set and leave for a long time," said Hanlon P. Tharp, principal of Davidson Junior High School. "Changes are occuring so fast it is now necessary to review the code each year."

Davidson has one of the most specific dress codes, covering even the heel size on girls' shoes.

For boys, shirts must be tucked into trousers and tight pants are out. A girl's dress should be no higher than two inches above the knee and must provide "modesty when sitting."

Like other schools in the district, Davidson places emphasis on neatness and "good taste."

Said Tharp: "We say a student should be interested more in books than looks. We have had fine acceptance by parents. In the six years I have been here, I don't think I have had more than four occasions when parents have objected."

Girls at Davidson may wear culottes which, to the uninitiated, are skirts which are divided, pant-style. "Several girls told me they were wearing culottes," said Tharp, adding rather ungallantly ". . . and I hadn't even noticed."

Long hair on male students is dealt with somewhat vaguely in most school codes under a safety standard ruling. If it is long enough to cause danger, then it's banned.

A four-point dress code for San Rafael High School students notes in general terms that everyone should be "neat and clean" in clothes "appropriate and decent."

Boys may wear bermudas but not jeans cut-off at the knee. T-shirts are allowed providing they do not have "questionable slogans" written on them.

Culottes are all right for girls if they fit and are of "decent length."

Frank Stocking, principal of Terra Linda High School, said his dress code of a general nature was against any clothes that would be distracting to the teaching process.

What were referred to as "play clothes" are not permitted but boys may wear neat and clean bermudas.

Apparently, schools in the San Rafael district prefer to deal on the spot with any dress problem that arises rather than putting anything too specific in writing.

Across the border, the Santa Rosa City School system has run into trouble with the American Civil Liberties Union over the "questionable legality" of items in its written dress code. These include school emblems, "bizarre accoutrements" and "bizarre hair dyeing."

Davidson's Tharp said: "We counsel the individual in cases of extreme dress. On the whole, I think students feel good that we are not all that 'way out.' Teachers like it this way too."

THAT'S BETTER — Students Val Clayton and Sue Natrass wear the way-in dress that is strictly according to the rules. County principals and teachers would like it district-wide. (Independent-Journal photos)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Identical Twins Characteristics Sometimes Take Time To Develop

VAN DELLEN

A Chicago woman writes: "When my twins were born 10 years ago, the doctor told me they were identical. The babies didn't look alike then nor do they look alike now. But, he still insistes they are identical. How can he be so certain?"

Your physician probably inspected the placent a (afterbirth) — the simplest and best way to differentiate between identical and fraternal twins.

Identical twins share a single placenta and the same bag of water. They represent fertilization of a single cell that divided during the first few days of implantation into the uterine wall.

ON THE OTHER hand, mistakes can be made in that two placentas may be fused and look like one. When in doubt, some obstetricians wait until the children are 2 to 4 years old.

At this time physical differences noted at birth have had time to correct themselves.

Detailed blood typing offers some help; identical twins also can swap skin grafts that take. This does not occur in fraternal twins.

IDENTICAL twins also are of the same sex. They need not resemble each other any more than the two sides of one individual are alike. Sameness is found in the ears, teeth, hands, and feet. Finger, palm, and sole prints are similar in that the likeness is direct or mirror-imaged.

Exceptions are skin blemishes such as moles and birthmarks. The characteristics mentioned are not always fully expressed at birth.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

WHY KNEE SNAPS

C. G. writes: What makes a knee snap?

REPLY

Rubbing together of a degenerated or torn cartilage or slipping of tendons or fibrous bands over the hinge of the knee. Examination would determine the need for surgery or whether the joint should be protected with a brace or a cast.

ACHE IN LEGS

A. C. writes: Could prostate gland trouble cause aching legs?

REPLY

Yes, but more common origins of these symptoms are arthritis of the spine, flat feet, and circulatory disorders. Prostate trouble, including cancer of the gland, is more likely to cause backache.

TRAVEL WITH CHILDREN

Mrs. E. K. writes: Is there any easy way to travel with young children? The holiday season brings visits to grandmother.

REPLY

Vacationing with the small fry is not so difficult as you think. Our leaflet on traveling with children by auto has suggestions that may be helpful. It can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

PREGNANCY SPOTS

Mrs. A. S. writes: Are pregnancy spots red or brown?

REPLY

GOLD FOR ARTHRITIS

C. R. J. writes: When gold is used in arthritis, is it injected directly into the painful joint?

REPLY

No. The chemical usually is injected into a vein or muscle.

AGGRAVATES ULCER

L.B. writes: When my ulcer flares up, the physician puts me on a strict diet of cream, Sippy powders, and custard. He does not want me to join the family at dinner because the sight of meat, potatoes, and gravy stimulates my stomach. Is he right?

REPLY

Yes, in that the sight and smell of delicious food stimulate the digestive juices of the stomach. Apparently your physician believes that this is interfering with the healing processes.

FLIES SPREAD DISEASE

REPLY

Inmate Says His Mail Not Received

San Quentin inmate Clifford Jefferson, accused of the zip gun slaying of fellow prisoner, complained in Marin Superior Court yesterday he is not receiving mail from his attorney because he is confined in the prison's isolation unit.

Jerome C. Durham of the public defender's office said he has sent letters to Jefferson which the 41-year-old convict claims not to have received.

Jefferson asked the judge to issue a restraining order for the prison staff to return him to a regular section of the institution.

James W. L. Park, associate warden of the prison, said today prisoners are particularly free in what they can mail to and receive from the courts and attorneys but conceded it is possible mail takes "an extra jog" to reach a prisoner in isolation.

Jefferson, along with Terry K., Campbell, also a prisoner, is accused of the slaying of Ronald Thomas Roberts last Feb. 24.

General Motors Willing To Pay

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. indicates it is willing to pay the wage price of averting an economy crippling United Auto Workers strike but that automation and representation may be strike issues.

General Motors, the largest corporation in the world, was saved for the last by the UAW in this year's round of auto industry contract negotiations.

Six hours were spent in main table bargaining yesterday in the first talks held by the company and union on a new contract for 406,000 G.M. workers since Oct. 21.

Today the negotiators divided into subcommittee teams, each assigned a specific area of consideration.

Army Announces 'Operation Holiday'

The San Rafael Army Recruiting Station announced an "Operation Holiday" for men enlisting in the Army during the month of December.

Those who enlist between Dec. 6 and 20 will be offered leave until Jan. 2, after their processing at the training center. Men enlisting Dec. 21 through 29 will be returned home the same day to start their Christmas and New Year's leave. They must return to the examining station for shipment to the training center at Fort Lewis, Wash., on Jan. 3.

Peace Sing-In Is Set Saturday

A "holiday sing-in for peace" will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Werthimer of Kentfield Saturday at 8 p.m. for the benefit of a newly-formed women's pacifist organization.

Laura Weber, Malvina Reynolds and Chris Bratt will perform and lead singing and many attending plan to bring musical instruments, according to Mrs. Werthimer.

Proceeds from the sing-in will go to help finance the Jeannette Rankin Brigade, named for a former U. S. senator from Montana who has been a leading pacifist for years. She will lead a group of women from various parts of the country in converging upon the capital in January.

Favorite City: San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To the surprise of no resident who has had to struggle through clusters of tourists to board a cable car, San Francisco is the visitors' favorite city in California.

Figures released today by the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce said the bay city drew 3.6 million on overnight trips last year, compared to 2.8 million in Los Angeles.

In terms of organized groups, the report said 925,000 parties trekked to San Francisco in 1966. Los Angeles attracted 725,000. Average size of the parties was 3.9 persons.

Study On Centers For LSD Users Set

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Concerned that there are no state facilities for rehabilitating persons who use non-opiate drugs such as LSD and methedrine, an Assembly committee plans tomorrow to begin exploring the state's needs.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle R-Riverside, chairman of the Assembly Criminal Precedure Committee, said yesterday that the committee will hold a two-day hearing on the rehabilitation needs of non-opiate drug users.

Foot-Mouth Disease Hits At All Of British Life

LONDON (AP) — Britain's epidemic of foot and mouth disease which has ravaged more than 1,000 farms in the past five weeks began hitting Britons in the pocketbook and other ways today.

Meat prices at London's giant Smithfield Market jumped 3 to 8 cents a pound.

The government ordered a ban on horse racing, halting a multimillion-dollar industry. It also closed youth hostels and canceled troop movements around the London suburban areas.

Motorcycle races were called off in infected areas and farmers in Wales demanded a halt to all soccer games.

Farmers contend that anything that brings crowds together can help spread the virus.

The move banning horse racing is unprecedented. Farmers have been demanding it for days. No date was set for a resumption of racing.

Much of the increase in meat prices can be attributed to delays in imports caused by a wildcat dock strike, which did not end until Monday. But the reduction in the supply of domestic meat due to the epidemic is expected to keep the price up.

Mill Valleyan Hurt In Crash

A Mill Valley woman was hospitalized Sunday when her car ran off southbound Highway 101, south of the San Quentin Wye.

The California Highway Patrol reported that the car, driven by Carole Ann DeMartini, 20, of 218 Morning Sun Avenue, Mill Valley, swerved off the road at 7:05 p.m., hit the hillside and turned over.

Miss DeMartini was treated for cuts at Marin General Hospital then transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco with possible concussion.

Her passenger, Michael Tauer, 20, of 304 Poplar Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated at the Marin hospital for scrapes.

Storer To Address Boys' Club Board

Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the directors of the Boys Club of Southern Marin at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Sabella's Restaurant, Strawberry.

President Richard N. Bale will report on club operations and finances during the club's first year of operations. The club opened in September last year. Storer will speak on the role of the club in county affairs.

KPIX (5), 10:30 p.m. — San Francisco Mayor Joe Alioto will discuss the problems of San Francisco on "Eyewitness News."

No Ban Against 'Peace' Bumpers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 6th Army insists there is no ban on "peace" bumper strips in San Francisco Presidio.

A spokesman said yesterday: "Anyone driving through the post has the right to drive through with bumper stickers."

The issue developed when military police stopped a teenage girl driver Nov. 13 and told her to remove a "Yes-on-Peace" strip.

The Army spokesman said it could easily have happened because that was the day a soldier was mentioned for refusing to go to Vietnam, and disturbances broke out.

The statement was made in reply to a protest from Ernest Besig of the California Civil Liberties Union.

Limited Martial Law Declared

KUALA Lumpur (AP) — The Malaysian government declared limited martial law in northwestern Malaysia today in an effort to quell spreading racial clashes between Malays and Chinese.

Army and police reinforcements poured into the worst affected areas, including Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman's home state of Kedah, after racial riots, arson and looting spread from the island city of Penang to the mainland.

A police spokesman said the toll from five days of riots and disturbances was 17 dead and 196 injured, half of the latter seriously enough to be hospitalized.

Wolfson Fined, Year In Prison

NEW YORK (AP) — Millionaire industrialist Louis E. Wolfson was sentenced today to one year in prison and fined $100,000 for willfully violating the Securities Act of 1933. He was charged with selling 690,000 unregistered shares of Continental Enterprises, Inc. for $3.5 million.

Elkin B. Gerbert, a codefendant and long-time business associate, was sentenced to six months and fined $50,000.

Wolfson, 55, of Miami Beach, Fla., and Gerbert, 58, of Jacksonville, Fla., were convicted Sept. 29.

Historical Society Re-Elects President

Frank Galli of Novato was re-elected president of the Marin County Historical Society at the recent general membership meeting.

Waddell Smith of San Rafael was elected executive vice president. Mrs. John Machado of Novato was re-elected secretary and William P. Murray Sr. of San Rafael, treasurer; Mrs. Guy Milner of San Rafael, financial secretary; Mrs. Thomas Harris of Mill Valley, corresponding secretary, and Helen Van Cleave Park of Mill Valley, editor of the quarterly bulletin published by the society.

Novato, 15, Hurt In Auto Crash

A 15-year-old Novato girl received a bump on the head in a two-car accident at 4:30 p.m. yeasterday at Olive and Railroad avenues, Novato, according to police.

Susan Margaret Phillips, a passenger in the car driven by her sister, Linda Faye Phillips, 19, both of 777 Franklin Street, was to see her own doctor, according to police.

The Phillips car, headed north on Railroad Avenue, was stopped at the time of the collision with a car, westbound on Olive Avenue, driven by Manuel Dwin Brazil, 50, of 1201 Chase Street, Novato, police reported.

Four Out For Beating Editor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco State College has suspended four students cited in the beating of the editor and staff members of the campus daily newspaper.

Two of the students will have to wait until the 1968 fall semester to re-register, officials said yesterday. The others were suspending for the current semester. Five other students were put on probation or sent letters of warnings.

President Orders Paper's Suspension

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco State College President John H. Summerskill has demanded immediate suspension of Open Process, a weekly publication at the school, in the wake of writings by Jefferson Poland, a founder of the Sexual Freedom League.

Summerskill told an emergency meeting of the student-faculty Board of Publications yesterday that the paper is under heavy critism from outside the campus, including Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco.

TV REVIEW

Low Pressure Performer Vs. Hot One

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra's recent, heralded NBC-TV special and Dean Martin's successful continuing series are tipoffs to the way various performers must be presented to be hits on television.

Martin is a very low pressure entertainer, and has made this a key to his formidability, a reason why he is a natural for weekly viewing.

Sinatra, on the other hand, is a very intense performer whose singing not only gives 100 per cent but virtually demands attention from an audience.

AT HIS BEST

He is seemingly at his best when he appears only occasionally because the pent-up excitement he generates gives the impression of exploding forth.

Some professional observers, such as communications theorist Marshall McLuhan, have offered views that tend to support the idea that low pressure entertainers are basically the stuff of which regular weekly television shows are made.

McLuhan, for instance, feels viedo is essentially a "cool" medium and is not as receptive on a frequent basis to "hot"—presumably he means intense—content and presentation

DAVIS NEXT?

This theory came to mind again during the past weekend when Sammy Davis, an intense entertainer whose weekly series on NBC-TV failed, gave an incredible, electrifying performance at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas—and made one wonder again why he wasn't a huge television success.

As it happens, his Vegas show, which was attended by a multitude of stars who were frankly awed by his performance, came on Friday, the day it was announced he and his wife were separating, and the situation was a reminder of one probable reason for his video ratings trouble: an interracial marriage.

Frankly speaking, when the goal of a regular weekly series if a large audience from all parts of the country, this personal matter is a factor. In addition, the intensity of Davis' manner, delivery and appearance seems to make him better suited for explosive one-shot performances, infrequently, the way Sinatra does it.

FRANK'S FORMULA

Sinatra has the formula to follow: few words, much entertaining, an hour a year, with complete control of the show. If you're big enough, it's the only way to go. And if a network is smart enough, it won't put up too much of an argument.

Return Plans

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese defense officials have drawn up a plan to send 10,000 men to Okinawa in the event the United States returns the Ryukyu Islands to Japan soon, newspapers reported today. The United States has said it would return within a few years the islands it took after World War II.

Ancient Ships To Be Restored

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Maritime Museum announced yesterday it plans to bring two ancient sailing ships to San Francisco and restore them.

Both historic vessels are in the Falkland Islands off South America, where they were left years ago after suffering damage in Cape Horn storms.

The ships are the 66-year-old Champigny and the Great Britain, a 124-year-old six-masted vessel which was the largest ship afloat when it was built. The museum plans to put the vessels on display after they are restored.

Forest Knolls Driver Hurt; Car Hits Pole

Police said Carrasco, of 224 Arroyo Road, told them he was driving alone on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Cordone Drive about 1:30 a.m. when headlights from an oncoming vehicle momentarily blinded him. His car swerved across Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and struck the pole.

A WAY OF LIFE

Coed Leads Tam High Students

By ALAN JONES

(Last of a series on student body presidents in Marin high schools)

Melissa Wuoltee beat out three male opponents to become student body president of Tamalpais High School and like most people elected president, she's been working her head off ever since.

She's used to working her head off. She apprenticed for the job as a class treasurer for two years and as a four-year representative to the student congress. She has also served on "almost all of the committees" and many clubs at Tam. She was chosen among Tam senior girls for the citizenship award of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

WAY OF LIFE

Keeping busy is her way of life. As student body president, she spends each noon hour in her poster-spattered cubbyhole office on campus, available to help students with problems, answer questions or direct members of student groups who drop in for guidance. She usually arrives at school an hour early to handle other presidential chores and spends some time most afternoons in the same role.

Why did she run for president? "I wanted to grow up to a job" and learn from it, she said. The presidency looked like the most challenging post available.

Student government has little effect on school administration and faculty, she admitted, but she said the student role is growing. For instance, a request that Tam be made an open campus was denied, but the request itself opened channels between students and administrators, she said.

MORE WILLING

"They still don't ask us things," she said, but school officials are now more willing to listen to student ideas.

The student government does have responsibility to administer student activities such as dances, club meetings, talent shows and the like

Miss Wuoltee said the campus now has 25 clubs compared to five at the start of the year, and she said campus spirit and pride is improving.

One of the student government's major projects is a $1,000 fund-raising drive to biuld a new school in a developing nation. The project is coordinated with the Peace Corps and several fund-raising events are scheduled.

TENSIONS EASE

Melissa, who served on the Breakthrough Day Committee last spring, said racial tension at Tam is "nothing like in past years." Breakthrough Day improved the situation, she said, and an Ad Hoc committee is working to hold another such day this school year.

She placed political interest and activism among students at a relatively low level, although most students are aware and have formed their own opinions on national issues such as the draft and the Vietnam war.

Like most college-bound seniors, the brown-haired Miss Wuoltee is busily applying for every scholarship available, and has applied for admission at the University of California at Davis and is applying for admission to Stanford. She has also applied to spend a year abroad as a student in the American Field Service Program, which could delay her college start. She plans to major in psychology or social science.

Some of the main goals she still hopes to see reached before her term ends in January include improved student-teacher relations and more teacher participation in activities, more outside speakers on campus and successful conclusion of the Peace Corps fund raising project.

She saw a hopeful sign for a greater student voice in school affairs in the recent recommendation by the Marin Youth Congress that students be represented on the high school administrative board, and on the school's Parent-Teachers Association.

There is a raft of other projects, more prosaic but useful, that are on Miss Wuoltee's list for early completion — a public address system for school-wide communication, a rain shield for the motorcycle rack, and revision of student government by-laws, the latter a job nearly done. There is also a student committee working to develop a more effective form of student government, expected to have its recommendations ready for the new student congress which takes office in January.

SCHOOL PRESIDENT — Melissa Wuoltee, student body president at Tamalpais High School, finds school board and administration pay little heed to student opinion, but believes some headway is being made by students.

'Hallelujah' Chorus Due Two Readings

Over 130 men and women in the combined choirs of Dominican College and St. Mary's College in Moraga will sing the "Hallelujah" chorus from Handel's "Messiah" in the annual Christmas program at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 5 in Angelico Hall of the Dominican College campus.

On the same program the Dominican choral, madrigal and schola choirs under the direction of Winifred Baker will form a 90-voice group for the performance of "The Joyful Mysteries," accompanied by the Dominican College string orchestra.

"The Joyful Mysteries" is the Advent-Christmas portion of an oratorio composed for the college in 1944 by Giulio Silva of Novato who died this year at the age of 91. Dr. Silva, author, teacher, composer and conductor, served as professor of music at Dominican from 1939 to 1953.

The St. Mary's men's choir directed by Monroe Knouse will present a Christmas vespers program with narration by Father Peter J. Riga, poet and professor of theology at St. Mary's. The vespers will include European and American carols and a double male chorus will sing Jacob Handel's "O Magnum Mysterium."

The entire program will be repeated at St. Mary's on Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. in the college chapel and will be broadcast from 9 to 10 a.m. Dec. 16 by KKHT FM and AM.

Civil Righter Will Present Talk

Anne Braden, civil rights worker from Louisville, Ky., and author of "The Wall Between," will speak at 8 p.m. Sunday at the home of Peter Dreyfus, 87 Oakdale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Mrs. Braden's appearance is sponsored by the Southern Conference Educational Fund.

An All-Purpose Garbage Plant Being Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An "all-purpose" plant has been proposed as a possible solution to San Francisco's garbage disposal problems.

The facility would incinerate refuse, treat sewage and generate steam which could be piped and sold as a source of power, officials said yesterday.

The city has run into stumbling blocks in dumping its garbage in waterfront areas on the San Francisco Peninsula in the last year.

Youths Arrested For School Fire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police have arrested five youths on arson charges stemming from a fire bombing in George Washington High School.

The only apparent motive was a desire to create some excitement, said Inspector William Sammon of the Juvenile Bureau.

All the students were evacuated when the Molotov cocktail went off in a second floor corridor last week. The fire was extinguished quickly.

JIM GILMARTIN

What A Lousy Way To Decide Winner

FARCICAL FLIP—Miss Jones, get me LBJ on the line. I have a simple solution for the Vietnam war. Flip a coin, Mr. President. Heads we win, tails they lose.

And tell the California Bar Association to forget complicated judicial proceedings when a four-bit piece tossed in the air can determine right from wrong.

Silly, of course, but such silliness prevailed over the weekend when grown men representing California junior colleges decided that the flippant toss of a Kennedy half-dollar, to coin a phrase, would determine the winner of a vital football game. Imagine that! How do you like THEM apples? We used to flip a coin to see who'd have to empty the garbage; certainly not to determine state championships.

Sports

FOURTH SECTION 33
Tuesday, Nov. 28, 1967

But these J.C. officials took a monumental step toward legalizing gambling and abolishing football in this Golden State over the weekend. Think of all the time, money and trouble they can save in the future. Heads or tails, Baby. To hell with blocks and tackles.

Of course, you've read all the bloody details of the J.C. mess by now, that College of Marin tied Hartnell 29-29 in their Northern California championship playoff Saturday night at Salinas, which, I believe, is the sister city of Fallon, Nev. And, for the lack of an official scorekeeper (oh Gawd!) they had to resort to the by now infamous flip of the coin to determine the state finalist. That Marin Athletic Director Harry Pieper called "heads" is the year's tail of woe and Hartnell goes to the finals. Hell, Marin didn't even get to pocket the coin. The Tars were short-changed in more ways than one.

13 Weeks Of Blood And Sweat

Thirteen weeks of blood and sweat sold down the gutter of incredibly poor planning. Flush it, Baby, flush it.

When asked why he would subject his fine athletes to the indignities of a cheap flip, Pieper explained: "There was absolutely no alternative. We were hopelessly deadlocked, so much so that I'm surprised the coin didn't land on its edge. The state committee decided on the flip of the coin and there was nothing we could do but go along with the unfortunate solution."

You must go back to the beginning to unravel this farce — back several months when J.C. officials set up this tournament and decided, curiously enough, that in the event of ties, neutral official statisticians at each playoff game would determine the winner on the basis of yardage gained.

There was some argument, I understand, for a more realistic sudden-death playoff system to break ties, but they pushed through the stats system.

No Statistician Appointed

Now we come to the juicy part. Mr. Glenn DuBose, athletic director of Napa College and Northern California chairman for the state playoff committee, was directed to appoint a neutral official scorer for the Marin-Hartnell game.

But, according to Pieper: "He (DuBose) called up Hartnell athletic director Ed Adams and said he wouldn't appoint a statistician. I don't know why. He suggested that Adams and I get together and appoint one. I doubt that we could have agreed on any one person anyway. Well, Adams never contacted me. In fact, I was amazed after the game to learn that there wasn't an official statistician."

Thanks to his monumental blunder, a Keystone Komedy situation developed at Salinas with officials checking and rechecking four sets of unofficial stats — two favoring Hartnell (the Salinas Californian and San Jose Mercury) and two for Marin (I-J reporter Kimo Campbell and State J.C. Publicity Director Fred Baer).

It would appear that the Baer Facts would be considered neutral, but, naturally, Hartnell officials would have none of that.

I-J Stats From Sidelines

Campbell, by the way, was the only one of the four who recorded the stats from the sidelines, on top of every play. It would seem his figures would be more accurate than those recorded from the distance of the press box.

I think this unfortunate situation should open some eyes of the State J.C. Athletic Committee. They should rewrite the rules and call for sudden-death playoffs for ties rather than the statistics solution. Or at least they should appoint reliable men to direct such important athletic events.

Shucks, when I was a kid we used to determine athletic superiority on the field with blocks, tackles, punts and passes.

Certainly not in a hotel lobby. That's a two-bit way to sell fine young athletes down the gutters of frustration.

What a way to lose — or WIN — a championship!

Didn't Expect Starting Job In His Rookie Year

By GARY TISCHLER

The last time we saw San Francisco 49er Elmer Collett of Mill Valley live and in person, he was a young man worried about his job.

That was in sun-drenched Oakland Coliseum two months ago when the 49ers were busily engaged in an emotional battle wtih the Oakland Radiers.

Collett, a rookie product of San Francisco State and Tamalpais High School, was on the specialty units then, on kickoffs and punt returns. It was nearing final cut time for the 49ers and Collett, a quiet, 245-pounder, was hoping he'd make the team.

We saw the 49ers again last Sunday in a 26-9 loss to the unbeaten Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

Collett was still there. Not only that, but he was the 49ers' starting guard and had been for

FINAL GRID POLLS

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern California is king of 1967 college football.

John McKay's Trojans were awarded 474 points today to 436 to Tennessee in the final Associated Press major college poll.

Southern California, which finished its regular season with a 9-1 record, received 36 first-place ballots in voting by a panel of 49 sports writers and broadcasters.

Tennessee, 8-1 with one regular season game remaining before its Orange Bowl date with Oklahoma, received 11 first-place votes.

Oklahoma was third with 311 points, followed by Indiana with 245 and Notre Dame with 243.

Indiana, Southern Cal's Rose Bowl opponent, dropped out of the Top Ten after losing to Minnesota, but the Hoosiers roared back to gain fourth after upsetting Purdue and finishing with a regular-season 9-1 mark.

Notre Dame got one first-place vote and so did Sugar Bowl-bound Wyoming, which finished sixth with 222 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Oregon State, Alabama, Purdue and Penn State.

Besides Indiana, Penn State is the only new member of the Top Ten. It was a last-chance situation for the Gator Bowl-bound Nittany Lions, who had not been in the Top Ten before at any time this season.

UCLA, fourth last week before being upset by Syracuse, and Houston, 10th before being surprised by Tulsa, dropped out of the rankings.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Southern California (36)	9-1	474
2. Tennessee (11)	8-1	436
3. Oklahoma	9-1	311
4. Indiana	9-1	245
5. Notre Dame (1)	8-2	243
6. Wyoming (1)	10-0	222
7. Oregon State	7-2-1	154
8. Alabama	7-1-1	152
9. Purdue	8-2	150
10. Penn State	8-2	98

The Count Reaches Nine In Life Of Marty Servo

For those of you too young to remember, Marty Servo was a lithe young boxer with a body of such alabaster purity, and eyes of such deep brown innocence, that you wondered what he did with the prayer just before he came in the ring. "Shouldn't he be carrying a candle?" ringsiders asked the night he won the Golden Gloves.

"He looked like a choir boy till he let go wit' da right," they used to say along Jacobs Beach. He was to the prize ring what a sonnet is to language. He was a blur in action. He was Lou Ambers' cousin, and they came from the onion and light bulb country of upstate New York.

I USED to see Marty in Hartford years ago where he fought Bobby (Poison) Ivy and Billy Duffy and Eddie Zivic, and Marty was so good most of them don't remember what he looked like. He could have been any kind of an athlete. If they put a golf club, or a fielder's mitt, or a tennis racket under his Christmas tree instead of a pair of purple trunks, Marty would have needed a manager only to count his money.

HE LOST only two fights in his earlier career — both to a young comer named Ray Robinson. They were close, and, during one of them, Marty was in the Coast Guard and the war was on.

He won the welterweight championship of the world from Freddie (Red) Cochrane in 1946 at a net loss to himself of $12,000. The circumstances are not complicated: Armand (Al) Weill was Marty's manager, and he got Cochrane and his title into the ring by dangling $50,000 in front of them. The fight went four rounds, most of which Cochrane spent picking himself up off the floor.

MARTY HAD to agree to give Ray Robinson first shot at his title, but Al Weill would rather have put him in with a man-eating tiger. So, in a sense, he did. He made an over-the-weight match with a murderous puncher, 12 pounds heavier than Marty.

STRONG MEN fainted at ringside at the savage beating Rocky Graziano gave to Marty Servo. It was such that even a sparring partner was able to draw blood on Marty as he was training later for the Robinson fight which never came off. Marty's nose was broken in the gym, and Weill grandly announced to the boxing commission, "He can't breed troo da nose," in hopes they would hold up the title for him in further hopes Robinson would get hit with a train or die of old age. The commission would not, and stripped Marty Servo of his title, and pretty soon he was getting knocked out by semi-main eventers in Bridgeport.

I BRING this up because this is the holiday season everywhere but in the Marty Servo house in Pueblo, Colo. The count has reached 9 for Marty and his wife, Ellie, and two children. He's in a wheelchair with a condition called "arachnoiditis," one of only about three such in the world. It's a nightmarish inflammation of the brain and spinal column in which the nerves embeded themselves in something called " the grand ulna" and petrify.

Rocky Graziano was a day in the park by comparison. Marty is on morphine every three hours. Marty wrote of his plight to the radio broadcaster, Dick Whittington, who in turn wrote to me.

IT'S EASY to swallow your pride when that's all you've had to eat that day. Marty needs help. He had difficulty articulating when I phoned him at his home, but his concern for his family, who may take a whole generation to bail out of the financial hole the illness has put him in, came through clearly. The world championship belt wouldn't pay one month's drug bills, the insurance has long since been cancelled. You wonder why the referee hasn't stopped the fight.

THE GUYS who used to yell "Go get 'im, Marty, he's all yours!" have long since disappeared. Pugilism has no pension. In boxing, heart is just another target. If you want to buy a ticket to this fight, the address is 1620 Cedar Wood Lane, Pueblo, Colo. Or, maybe that should be just "Heartbreak, Colo."

DOCTOR ON THE COURSE?

Bill Delaney of Brigham Young University ran the NCAA cross-country six-mile course wearing a surgical mask and wool ear protectors yesterday. The course was over the frozen grounds of the Laramie, Wyo. Country Club in chilling winds at an altitude of 7,262 feet. Gerry Lindgren of Washington State won his third straight championship, finishing in 30:45.6, 50 yards ahead of his nearest rivals. (AP Wirephoto)

Teeth Put Into Big League Rules On The 'Ol' Spitball'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "If a pitcher is clever enough he can throw anything he wants. We are just trying to make sure he doesn't want to throw a spitball."

That was the way Paul Richards, general manager of the Atlanta Braves, reasoned the latest change in baseball rules, a change designed to put some teeth in the ban against the spitball.

EXPULSION

The Playing Rules Committee amended Rule 802A yesterday, to prohibit a pitcher from touching his mouth or lips or spitting in his hand, glove or on the ball. The first violation brings a warning from the umpire, the second automatic expulsion from the game.

Richards, who proposed the change, said, "It is too late when a manager complains after a pitcher has thrown a spitter. It's all over then and there's no proof. So it must be stopped sooner, at the mouth, where 85 per cent of the foreign substances come from."

The rule applies at the start of next season even to those pitchers who touch their month in nervous habit, even if they've never thrown a spitter in their lives.

BANNED IN 1920

Spitballs were banned at the start of the 1920 season but 19 pitchers who were throwing spitters then were allowed to continue the practice until retirement.

Burleigh Grimes of the St. Louis Cardinals, who retired in the mid-1930s, was the last of the legal spitball pitchers.

But pitchers kept up the practice on the sly. Almost every team in the major leagues has at least one wetball pitcher although Cal Koonce of the New York Mets is the only active hurler to make a public admission that his pitches have something on them other than natural effort.

Charles Segar, president of the Playing Rules Committee, announced the change on the first day of the annual winter baseball meetings. It was suggested during an unprecedented meeting of managers and general managers of the 20 major league clubs.

FIRST STEP

"This is the first step," Segar said, indicating more drastic action might be taken if disqualification from the game isn't enough.

The managers and general managers also acted on ideas put forth by Commissioner William D. Eckert to speed up play and improve the game's image.

These included giving the umpire sole authority to determine if a ball is in good enough condition to keep in the game and asking all clubs to use golf carts to haul relief pitchers and pinch hitters from distant bullpens.

The ball proposal would keep pitchers from delaying the game by asking for several new balls an inning and stop batters from stepping from the box to ask for a new ball.

OTHER ACTION

In other developments, Phil Piton, 64, announced his retirement, effective in December 1968, as president of the National Association (minor leagues) and Joe DiMaggio, executive vice president of the Oakland Athletics, announced the appointment of Bill Cutler as vice president in charge of public relations. Cutler had been an administrative assistant in the office of the American League president.

The New York Mets acquired catcher J.C. Martin from the Chicago White Sox and sent pitcher Bill Denehy to Washington to complete deals made earlier.

Today's big business included the draft of minor league players but the pickings were slim. Oakland had the first choice.

Coaches Announce Star Team

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gary Beban of UCLA and O.J. Simpson of Southern California led the all-star team announced yesterday by the American Football Coaches Association and Kodak.

The other members of the offensive backfield are fullback Larry Csonka of Syracuse and flanker Dennis Homan of Alabama.

The rest of the offensive team includes ends Ted Kwalkick of Penn State and Ron Sellers of Florida State, tackles Ron Yary of Southern California and Edgar Chandler of Georgia, guards Harry Olszewski of Clemson and Rich Stotter of Houston and center Bob Johnson of Tennessee.

The defensive team lists ends Ted Hendricks of Miami and Ted Rossovich of Southern California and John Garlington of Louisiana State; tackles Dennis Byrd of North Carolina State, Greg Pipes of Baylor and Jon Sandstrom of Oregon State; middle guard Wayne Meylan of Nebraska; linebackers Andrian Young of Southern California and Granville Liggins of Oklahoma, and defensive backs Bob Johns of Alabama, Tom Schoen of Notre Dame and Frank Loria of Virginia Tech.

"That's the last thing I thought would happen," Collett said. "I never expected to be a starter in my first year."

Collett wasn't too pleased with his performance in Sunday's game.

"I didn't play too well," he said. "I don't know. I wouldn't say it was my best game."

If it wasn't, Collett had company. The whole afternoon was just a shade undistinguished for the 49ers.

Rookie quarterback Steve Spurrier had a rude and indecisive debut as a starter. The 49er offense produced nothing in the way of touchdowns for the second straight game. Matt Hazeltine, the veteran linebacker and ex Tam High star, spent the whole game plowing a furrow from one end of the bench to the other being forced to sit out the game with a hamstring injury. Tackle Walt Rock kicked a chair. Even the winning Colts played with a breezy air of indifference.

HELD HIS OWN

Still, Collett held his own against the Colts' 250-pound tackle Fred Miller, one of a series in a group of beefy gentlemen whom he has gotten to meet face to face.

"He was pretty strong," Collett said. "He seemed to read the offense pretty well. They all did."

An Injury to the 49ers great veteran guard John Thomas put Collett in the sudden position of being a starter in his first year of professional football. The injury, cut tendons, may have ended the career of Thomas.

"I haven't seen him," Collett said. "But I watch him in the game films. You learn a lot that way."

The best way to learn has been to play.

NO COMPARISON

"I couldn't compare the way I blocked at the beginning of the season to what I do now," Elmer said. "There just isn't any comparison. I don't even remember."

Collett has had to learn how to position himself, how to hit and block particular players, and the finer arts of pass blocking.

Collett has been most impressed by Roger Brown of the Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers' Henry Jordan.

"Brown tries to overpower you," Collett says. "Jordan has more finesse than anybody I've seen. I think a combination of both of them would be the best in the league."

BROWN GROWLS

"He spent most of the time beating me on the side of the head," Collett recalled. "But it's pretty hard to actually overpower anybody like that. He growled at me. I guess it was supposed to scare me."

Becoming a starter has changed Collett.

"I guess I feel there's more of a future for me," he said. "You're more conscious of trying harder, of being the best. You try to be good because you want to go on being a starter."

Collett is still a quiet man. You don't hear him screaming too much on the sidelines. Most of the time, in between offensive turns, he compares notes with the other linemen. Or sits, looking intense, brooding.

SHAKE IT OFF

"I usually sit there and get mad when I mess up," he said. "But it doesn't do any good to get mad at yourself. It just gets worse that way. You just shake it off."

"Losing doesn't change the way you play," he said. "You just try harder. The thing to do is to win. That's all. There's next week."

Although it's been another one of those years for the 49ers, it has already been a winning year for Collett, the rookie from Mill Valley who was fighting for survival not so long ago.

Close Four-Team Cage Race Forecast In WCAC

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The West Coast Athletic Conference launches action this week in what may be the basketball league's most evenly contested race.

Pepperdine entertains Southwest Missouri State Friday. The Santa Clara Broncos host San Francisco State at San Jose and the Louola Lions play at Occidental. San Jose State travels to Arizona at Tucson the same night.

On Saturday night the University of San Francisco Dons invade Oregon State, St. Mary's plays at Fresno State and UC-Santa Barbara plays at Oregon.

University of the Pacific, league title winners two straight years, plays at Hayward State and San Jose State plays at Arizona State.

The league race does not start until Jan. 6 with four teams rated as co-favorites. They are USF, Loyola, Santa Clara and Pacific, which lost three stars from its last season's title team.

Harding Gophers Win Cage Game

Don Schruder and Lee Eisenhut with 17 and 11 points respectively led the Harding Gophers to a 65-35 victory over Fairchild Semiconductor last night in San Rafael Recreation Department's C-II adult basketball league at San Rafael High School. Bruce Mack led Fairchild with 9 points.

Rec Basketball Signups Slated

The San Rafael Recreation Department's basketball season for boys in fourth through eighth grades begins Saturday with a registration day at San Rafael and Terra Linda high school gymnasiums.

Registration is set for 8 a.m. and the fee is $1.

Recreation Gridders Remain Unbeaten

Unbeaten Cal's Steakhouse broke up a scoreless battle late in the first half and went on to down the winless San Rafael Jaycees 22-0 to highlight San Rafael Recreation Department flag football play Sunday.

In another game, the Charlie Brown All-Stars and the Dirty Dozen battled to a scoreless tie.

Marin Ice Hockey Team Upsets League Leaders

Marin County's junior hockey team won its first game of the season last Sunday, knocking off front-running Santa Rosa 7-2 at the Raydine Ice Rink in Corte Madera.

The Marin team had lost twice and tied another this season in Northern California Junior Hockey Association play.

Don MacMasters led the Marin team Sunday with a three-point hat trick. Other Marin goals were scored by Shaun Mitchell, Robert Hutton, Eric Gabrielsen and David Bonbright.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

What This Steelhead Country Needs Is Expert 'Rainmaker'

STEVENS

What is badly needed to enliven steelhead fishing in the coastal streams to the north of the Golden Gate is a real expert "rainmaker" to pour enough aqua pura at the mouths of most streams to wash away the sand bars and allow the steelhead to come in. At the present writing, practically all coast streams are low and clear or bar-bound.

The same need holds true of even the larger streams such as the Sacramento, where reports from the majority of fishing resorts and landings indicate only spotty fishing for steelhead and salmon. So we pray for rain, enough to open the bars and raise the stream level, but, of course, not such a deluge that the streams will overflow and become the color of mud.

A CHECK of the local resorts and boateries indicates that the Delta region from Antioch upstream to Sacramento is ripe for striper action. Lots of nice bass have been landed already and each passing day should bring in new spawners. Most reports stress the fact that while most boats come in with fish, very few limits have been registered, but many "singles" in the 20-to-30-pound class are falling for sardines and bullheads, with a few nice sturgeons taking grass shrimp.

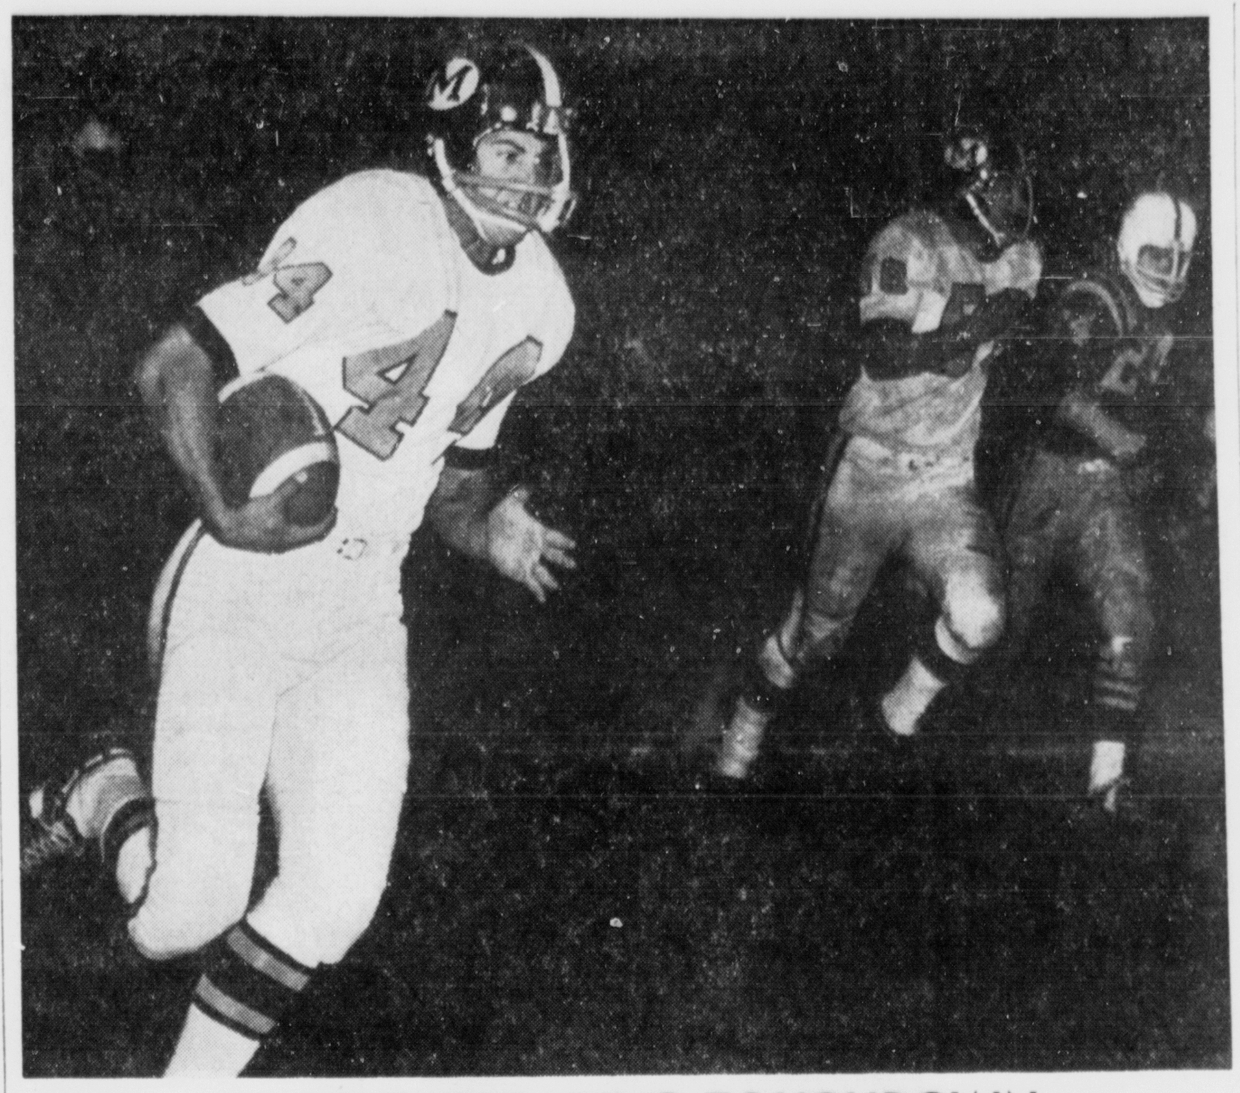
AS IS usual, a few of the more expert (or lucky) anglers in the local areas have registered limit catches, like the "regular" Mel Colombo of San Anselmo, fishing out of China Camp. Grace Quan reported Colombo bringing in his legal limit of stripers from 18 to 32 pounds. Mel, and most of the scoring anglers, worked the area straight out from the China Camp dock near the Pump House in about 18-20 feet of water. Grace Quan said: "Terrific," when I asked about results. "Thirty-nine nice bass were unloaded; most of them caught on bullheads. Some nice flounders also were landed."

ANOTHER ANGLER who has a habit of getting his limit was Charlie Kinoshito who worked the Napa River area. Ted Fox, the new owner of the well known Napa-Val boatery, reported Kimoshito back at the dock at 10 a.m. Sunday with his trio of stripers to 25 pounds. Said Fox: "He caught his 25-pounder near the buoys on live bull heads. Some dandy flounders were also taken, big ones to four pounds, on Saturday. Most productive area was near the bridge."

WORD FROM Clear Lake is good for black bass at present, with anglers who have been trolling having the best results. Crappie continues to furnish fun, sport and amusement to all who fish for them.

THE RUMOR of a great striper being landed from the Suisun Bay recently proved true. The fish weighed in at a record 54 pounds and was caught by Ray Zerulla of Pinole on a bullhead.

SEEMS A "mixed bag" has featured Lake Berryessa fishing recently, the mixture being black bass and rainbow trout. The light tackle buffs can have a ball.



THE DISAPPEARING TOUCHDOWN

College of Marin halfback Dean Lazzarini heads for what appeared to be a 55-yard touchdown sprint in the second half against Hartnell Junior College in the small junior college division playoffs at Salinas High School Stadium Saturday night while Marin's Loren Swaney and Hartnell's Tony Galbiso chase the play. But a clipping penalty called the touchdown back. It was one of many frustrations for the Tars, who wound up losing a 29-29 game on the toss of a coin. (Salinas Californian photo)

Air Force Major Bowls Top Series In Nave Leagues

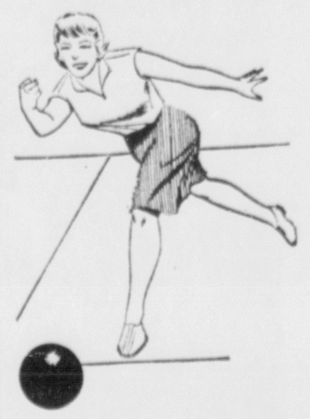
BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG



A bowling ball is delivered with your whole body, not just your arm. That is why "timing" is important. Make every effort to get you and the ball to arrive at the foul line at the same time and then complete the delivery with a smooth followthrough. To concentrate on this may affect your accuracy for a time, but before long it will pay off in higher scores.

Those UCLA Cagers Will Be Tough

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's Lew Alcindor is taller, scales a little lighter and should be stronger with more endurance for this season's basketball campaign.

Coach John Wooden expects Alcindor and the entire UCLA team to be better this season than last when it was undefeated and won the national collegiate title.

Wooden told the Southern California Basketball Writers yesterday that last year, as a sophomore, Alcindor was 7-foot 1 3/8 inches and this year the measurement showed 7-1 1/2. He played at 235 pounds a year ago and this fall has been at 230.

The coach added that in practices, Lew has shown more strength and endurance and has been doing more things. Wooden also doesn't think the new anti-dunking rule will hurt Lew too much.

"I think it hurt his feelings more than anything else," commented Wooden who feels the new rule will cause problems for officials.

"It will be difficult to judge if the hand is over the rim of the basket before the ball leaves the hand," he said. "I think it will cause more problems than the goal tending rule."

"I think we're going to be better this year," said the coach whose club last season won 30 straight. "If we're not, you'll have to say it was my fault."

He sees improvement in experience, height and depth with the return of Edgar Lacey and Mike Lynn providing the boost. Both are two-year lettermen who missed the 1966-67 campaign. Lacey stands 6-6 and Lynn 6-7 1/2.

Wooden said that even with Alcindor, the Bruins did not have much overall height last year. With Lacey and Lynn adding height, Alcindor should be able to get more rest.

"We expect to rest him more," Wooden said. "We want him at his best for the final 10 minutes of each game."

Pre-season polls have installed UCLA as favorite to repeat as national champion. Wooden said nothing to discount that rating with his comment, "There is no reason we should not be better, but that doesn't mean we might not be beaten."

Golf Tournament Finals On Tap

Bill Reilly and Jack Purcell, and Tom Washington and Bill McVicker will meet in the finals of the Indian Valley Golf Club's Rosehill two-man team tournament Sunday.

Reilly and Purcell downed John Machado and Bob Hachmyer last Sunday to gain the finals. Washington and McVicker qualified earlier.

The consolation finals will have Charlie Thompson and Jerry Hannigan meeting Tom Hardcastle, and Art Sears.

Gary Beban To Quarterback West Team In Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — UCLA's Gary Beban has been named to quarterback the West in the 43rd annual Shrine-sponsored East-West charity football game to be held Dec. 30 in Candlestick Park.

Beban's elusive feet and passing arm accounted for 19 touchdowns in his senior year and made him a candidate for the Heisman Trophy. Should he win it, he would be the 17th Heisman winner to play in the annual game where the proceeds go to Shrine hospitals for crippled children.

Backing up Beban in the quarterback slot will be Danny Holman of San Jose State and Bob Lee of the University of the Pacific.

Holman passed for nearly 1,400 yards this season, despite the lack of outstanding receivers. Lee, besides passing, averaged 40 yards on punts, booted a 51-yard field goal and three others of more than 40 yards.

Named as their receivers were Haven Moses of San Diego State, Phil Odle of Brigham Young and Warren McVea of Houston. Others named to the West team were center John Erquiaga and tackle Larry Slagle, both of UCLA.

Novato Gets Second Win

Novato High School's Hornets equaled their win total of the 1966-67 season Saturday night by stopping Hogan of Vallejo, 68-49, at Vallejo in a non-league basketball game.

It was the second straight win for the rejuvenated Hornets, who won only two games all last season.

Ed Herrnberger with 23 points and Bob Anderson with 15 led Novato, which broke up a tight game by outscoring Hogan, 12-5, in the third quarter.

Novato	13	16	12	27—68
Hogan	10	14	5	20—49

Novato scoring — Steve McNally, 2-5-9; Gene Barnes, 2-2-6; Bob Tait, 3-0-6; Joe Lewis 1-2-4; Ed Herrnberger, 9-5-23; Bob Anderson, 5-5-15; Mike Ahern, 1-2-4; Bob Anennt, 0-1-1. Totals: 23-22-68. 23-22-68.

San Rafael Swim Team Is Second

San Rafael Swim Club closed out its 1967 season by taking second place at the first Blackford Invitational Swim Meet at Blackford High School in San Jose last Saturday.

Bobby Placak and Cookie Arrighi each won two events in addition to being on two winning relay teams. Swimmers were allowed to compete in only two individual events, plus two relays.

Bobby, in the 8 and under group, won the 100-yard individual medley and the 25-yard freestyle, and Cookie, in girls 13-14, won the 100 free and 200 I.M.

Other San Rafael individual first place winners were Rita Nederman, 8 and under; Luci Suttles and Joe Hislop, 11-12; and Mary Andrews, 13-14.

San Rafael won a total of 15 first places, 13 seconds and 6 thirds.

MARIN SCULPTURE

Liturgic Works Lead The List

By LAURA DEVENDORF
(First of two parts, the second to appear at a later date.)

"What sculpture?"

That's almost always the first response to, "Do you know of any publically displayed sculpture around Marin? You know, the kind you can ride by in a car and see or that's in a public building or something?"

But on thinking it over, the person asked will probably mention some historical marker, which doesn't count, or perhaps the baroque fountain in the Ross Art and Garden Center.

To be fair, you can't count that either because most of us only remembered it existed when it made the front page recently by being sold to interests in Los Angeles who carted it away.

By now, if the queried is really exasperated, he may eye you fiendishly and suggest, "... the sculpture on top of Mount Tam, you know the big round white one. Or those things in the parks that look like old World War II airplanes."

But in spite of how things seem, Marin isn't really a sculptural wasteland.

Some of what we overlook is lovely, some terrible and some worse but it's there, albeit often shrouded in undergrowth, civic apathy and public indifference. So getting down to the "where" of it, the next most obvious thing to seek is liturgic work.

Churches have traditionally accounted for much of our art and appropriate place to start would be St. Rafael's Church in San Rafael.

Most churches have something to see such as the radiant sunburst of a cross topping the new Catholic Church in Mill Valley. But the most easily spotted religious work is the statue of Christ in front of St. Sebastian Church on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Greenbrae.

Commissioned by the church about 35 years ago, it is a copy of the original by Torta Nouva who was brought from Italy to do sculpture for the 1915 Exposition in San Francisco.

The cast is of travertine, the same basic material used for bridges by the early Romans and it was done by Andrea Minutoli.

Nearby, a beautiful and inspired work rests, almost hidden by foliage, at the entrance of Marin General Hospital. According to a hospital release, "The Life Givers" by Robert Shinn of Sausalito, depicts its theme through three central figures.

"Dominating the group is a robed figure who represents the Creator, Giver of Life. To his left is a woman in flowing garments, who symbolizes the development of life. To the right, is a kneeling man who personifies strength, energy, courage and the will to live. Together, the three represent fatherhood, womanhood and the Supreme Being."

Another commissioned work executed for the McGraw Hill building (currently the County Superintendent of Schools' office) at 201 Tamal Vista Drive in Corte Madera — had no such definite theme intended.

Instead, the angular bronze-coated steel screen was designed by San Rafael sculptor Harry Crotty "to screen the afternoon sun, allow a mountain view and decorate the main entrance to the building."

The artist also "tried to suggest movement, flux and change within a generally rigid modular unit with a repetition of shapes and forms."

Everything discussed so far has stemmed from private commissions by the church or other large organizations. Occasionally, an individual will do the same such as Manny Gomez, who had Mexican artist Padilla create the mounted mosaic disc which decorated his business property on Miller Avenue in downtown Mill Valley.

And while considering Marin's privately-owned work, we can't overlook the most private of all. These are the wonderful visual surprises that erupt from garage and garden walls or become part of the landscaping such as the log and tin can construction by Don Dudley in his yard at 183 Cascade Drive, Mill Valley.

These are things artists do for their own amusement, for the backyard and for love.

Perhaps the greatest triumph of this sort is Dennis Patton's Trojan Horse on Highway 101 by the Greenbrae overpass. Distressed by an eyesore of thoughtlessly dumped lumber, he didn't complain or just ignore it as most of us would. Instead, he used it to create a landmark of natural wit and beauty that delights everyone who drives by.

The discouraging part of Patton's story is that there were no takers, even when he tried to give the horse away and it was refused by one town at least, on the grounds that someone might climb on it and get hurt and they didn't want to be responsible.

There doesn't seem to be a rush to dispose of trees, jungle gums or sliding-boards but nevertheless, the horse now resides on ground Patton himself rented so that it might remain in open view for others to enjoy.

Zolene, Inc., Reorganizes Under New Name–Synergistic Industries

In recent months there has been a major expansion in the operation of Zolene, Inc., San Rafael, which has been identified in the minds of most Marin businessmen as the manufacturer and supplier of cosmetics to Holiday Magic — which sells them.

The company still acts in that capacity but has been reorganized under a new corporate name — Synergistic Industries, Inc. During the past year it has invested about $250,000 in new equipment for the manufacture and packaging of all types of cosmetic products and has emerged as a supplier to other firms besides Holiday Magic on a nationwide basis.

Synergistic continues the 169 Jacoby Street address of Zolene as its home office and western distribution center, and a few months ago took over the former 28,000-square-foot warehouse of Montgomery Ward at 25 Tiburon Street for its plant. The company also has an affiliate on the East Coast — Key Research and Development Corp., Penndel, Pa.

Abe Solomon, chairman of the board of Sierra National Bank, is board chairman of Synergistic and its chief executive officer.

Present and senior administrative officer is Morton Scott of San Rafael, who has been identified with the drug and cosmetic industry since World War II. He has held executive positions in research, engineering and manufacturing with Smith, Kline and French; Revlon; Warner-Lambert and most recently was vice president at Del Laboratories.

Solomon

Scott

Synergistic is now rated as the third largest independent in the cosmetic field. At the start of its fourth quarter this year it had racked up 1967 sales of $6 million. By way of comparison, Zolene's entire sales in 1964 totaled only $50,000. New name will be in wide use by the first of the year.

MRS. JOAN ST. JOHNS of Tiburon has been elected to membership in the San Francisco chapter of the Administrative Society. She is vice president of Tempositions, Inc., San Francisco.

WINNERS of all-paid vacations to Las Vegas for two in a six-week real estate sales contest by Earle and Solvanson, Inc., Corte Madera, were John Gamby, Mel Jung and John Maxson. During the contest period 24 sales were completed by the staff, a sales record for the firm.

MRS. RUTH MILLER of Beau's Internationale, Ltd., Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center, has been awarded the designation of Certified Gemologist by the American Gem Society for her professional skill in identifying and evaluating diamonds and other gem stones.

Grand Opening Of Co-Op Is Set Tomorrow

Consumers Cooperative of Marin will observe its grand opening tomorrow with the completion of its second construction phase.

A division of Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, the Marin cooperative opened its first unit last March with the completion of the food market. Also in unit one have been the Co-op Mutual Service and Credit Union, Gallery Three Art Gallery and Photo Music Fair. A separate operation in the food market is the Willie Braun Barbecue.

The Co-op Mutual Service and Credit Union has moved its office into unit two and the liquor department has also moved out of the food department into a separate store in unit two.

Other businesses in the new addition are One Hour Martinizing, a cleaning service; and a restaurant, Miz Brown's Country Kitchen. Still to be opened is a coin-operated laundry. Three more store spaces remain unleased.

An open house will be celebrated between 7 and 9 p.m. tomorrow. The cooperative is located at 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

KEYS FOR 1968 MODEL SHOWROOMS

Doug Dicker (left), Chrysler-Plymouth dealer for Marin County, takes the keys from builder William McDevitt which will open his new automobile showrooms in Corte Madera for business on Friday. The new facility, located at Casa Buena Drive and Conow Street, has 22,000 square feet of floor space, including a service department with 22 stalls and body shop.

Market Ends Higher For Fifth Day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today, posting its fifth straight daily advance.

Trading was active as the market rose from the start, weathered some profit taking in the middle of the session, then rose to its best level of the day.

The gain was a modest one on average, as some of the biggest key stocks were selling exdividend, but gains outnumbered losses handily.

Several issues drew speculative demand. Symington-Wayne paced the list on volume as it advanced about 5 points. Ling-Temco-Vought rose 7, Avnet 4, Sangamo Electric 2½ and American Motors more than a point.

Bucyrus-Erie gained about a point on stock split news.

Control Data spurted about 5, Xerox 4, Raytheon 2. New York Central rose more than 3 and Pennsylvania Railroad almost 3 as they responded to the latest encouragement for their long-postponed merger.

Ahead a couple of points or so were Boeing, Rohr Corp. and Polaroid.

Steels edged higher following a big gain in weekly steel output. Most of the leading auto stocks were gainers. General Motors dropped a fraction as serious labor contract bargaining drew closer.

Ex-Cell-o Corp. Declares Dividend

DETROIT (BW) — Ex-Cell-O Corp. directors have declared a dividend of 30 cents a share payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record on Dec. 11.

"This dividend," reported H. G. Bixby, president, "marks the 126th consecutive quarter in which the company has paid a dividend equal to or greater than the preceding dividend.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Be Knowledgeable Before Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. About three months ago we purchased several hundred shares of Clarostat on the American Exchange at 12. We can hold this for a few years, provided it has growth possibilities. What is your advice? — C. C.

A. It is always a matter of concern to me that so many investors like yourselves plunge heavily into a speculative situation without apparent knowledge of what they're getting into. Clarostat is a relatively small manufacturer of electronic components, including resistors and capacitators — two highly competitive items. Earnings are down sharply this year and the shares are selling at their 1967 low and very little above their worst level of the previous year. Clarostat has had some good years and is now having a poor one. I don't believe that you should regard such a stock as a permanent holding, but I do not advise you to sell at current depressed levels. If you can someday get out even, I would do so and substitute a stock of good quality and established growth which in the long run should work out much better for you.

Q. Please explain why some brokers sell over-the-counter stocks at new prices as principals and other show the price they paid and commission charged. Is it true that a firm makes a bigger profit with the former method? — G. K.

A. Almost all dealers will buy or sell as your agent, showing the price paid plus commission if you request it. It is not necessarily true that a firm makes a larger profit by selling to you at a net price. Very frequently when a firm makes a market in an OTC stock, it can sell you a principal and make perhaps less profit than you would have to give up to another dealer acting as your agent. In dealing in all stocks —including OTC issues — the main thing is to know your broker and be sure that he is trustworthy, as most are.

Dove Of Peace May Change To Bird Of Prey

Here is what he said:

"Some of our people have suggested the possible wisdom of going north in Vietnam. . . .

"As far as I am concerned, I want to be very cautious and careful, and use it only as a last resort, when I start dropping bombs around that are likely to involve American boys in a war in Asia with 700 million Chinese. So just for the moment I have not thought we were ready for American boys to do the fighting for Asian boys.

"What I have been trying to do, with the situation that I found, was to get the boys in Vietnam to do their own fighting with our advice and our equipment. That is the course we are following.

"SO WE ARE NOT going north and drop bombs at this stage of the game, and we are not going south and run out and leave it for the Communists to take over.

"We have lost 190 American lives, and to each one of those 190 families this is a major war. We lost that many in Texas on the Fourth of July in wrecks. But I often wake up in the night and think how many I could lose if I made a mis-step. . . . We think that losing 190 lives is bad, but it is not like 190,000 we might lose the first month if we escalated that war."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON said this in a speech at Manchester, N. H., on Sept. 28, 1964 — just 38 months ago today — when he was a candidate for his first full term in the presidency.

His opponent, Barry Goldwater, advocated bombing North Vietnam and stepping up the war there for what he suggested would be a quick victory.

This difference over conduct in Vietnam became a major issue of the campaign. The electorate gave Johnson 43,126,506 votes to Goldwater's 27,176,799. It was an overwhelming victory.

Just for the moment there was no bombing of North Vietnam. But it began in February of 1965. Just for the moment there was no sending "American boys to do the fighting for Asian boys," beyond the few thousand already there as "advisers." But American combat troops were committed in March of 1965, and in July of that year the pretense that the U. S. was merely supporting the South Vietnamese Army was cast aside as major American forces took over the brunt of the war.

Escalation did not result in 190,000 U. S. losses in one month, as President Johnson 38 months ago today expressed fear it might. But U. S. deaths in Vietnam combat now exceed 15,000, with the wounded mounting near 100,000.

THE U. S. IS NOW nearing another presidential campaign. President Johnson of course will seek a second full term — which would give him a total of nine years and two months in the White House, longer than any other President except Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is being challenged for his own party's nomination by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, on the issue of Vietnam. Whoever the Republicans nominate doubtless will also criticize Johnson's conduct of that war; but whether he attacks it as a "dove," echoing Johnson's campaign of 1964, or as a "hawk," echoing the arguments that lost for Goldwater, remains to be seen.

One thing is made plain by reviewing President Johnson's campaign speech of 38 months ago today: the dove on election eve may grow hawk-like talons after the votes are counted.

U.S., Russia Should Cooperate To Stop Chinese Aggression

WASHINGTON — If the Soviets are as worried about Red China as they say they are — worried lest they be engulfed in war — why don't they do something about it?

Isn't the logical answer to Moscow's poisoned relations with Peking, an improvement of relations with the United States?

There is a counterbalance to the Soviet fear that China is intent on war. It is to make peace with the United States, including a willingness to help resolve the Vietnam conflict.

SOVIET ANXIETY about China is pervasive.

No one has described it more vividly or authoritatively than Harrison E. Salisbury of the New York Times, a veteran Moscow correspondent, who recently traveled widely in Russia to develop a series of articles appraising the 50-year record since the Bolshevik Revolution.

Speaking of the worries and the preoccupations of the Soviet officials and the Russian people, he found that "above all, there was China."

THERE IT WAS, the No. 1 fear inside the Soviet Union today. It came out in nearly every interview he had — the widespread feeling that China was deliberately provoking border incidents prior to attempting to take Russian territory, and the fear that Peking was deliberately trying to provoke war between the Soviet Union and the U. S.

The Russians were certain that the danger was growing.

And where does this lead the Soviet policy-makers? It leads them to an even greater fear — the fear that the United States will make a deal with China at the expense of Russia.

WE SHOULDN'T be surprised at that. Many Americans feel the same way in reverse — that the differences between Moscow and Peking are superficial and can easily be patched up at any time and the world confronted again with a monolithic Sino-Soviet alliance for aggressive spread of communism.

The best judgment, I think, is that the differences between the two are deep and irreparable as far as anyone can see ahead, that the breach is not primarily a conflict of ideology but a conflict of national interest, that Mao Tse-Tung is intent upon recreating a vast Chinese empire and taking the leadership of world communism away from the Soviets.

CHINA, TOO, has its fear. Its fear is that the Soviet Union will reach a real detente with the United States at the expense of Peking.

And my question is: Why not?

Why shouldn't the U. S. and Russia reach an agreement to defend and secure the peace in all Southeast Asia?

It need not be a formal alliance and certainly not directed against the territorial integrity or independence of Red China. It would be directed only against Chinese expansion-by-force in the Western Pacific where such expansion would be against both Soviet and U. S. interests.

SUCH AN UNDERSTANDING between Washington and Moscow would have to rest upon two pillars:

That neither would act to dominate Southeast Asia.

That the war in Vietnam be brought to an end with the independence of South Vietnam its only goal.

If containment of Red China and peace in Asia are in the national interest of both the Soviet Union and the United States, wouldn't it be sensible to do something about it together — and soon?

At least it seems about time to begin to explore the edges of the possibilities.

Democracy OK If In Moderation

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Long ago — to be exact, in 1940 — there was a war between Finland and USSR. The war began in December, ended in May of 1941.

I recall, vividly, the reaction of all newspapers about that war. How come the nation with over 200 million population couldn't conquer poor, little Finland? The only thing newspapers forgot to mention was that in 1940-41 winter was the coldest in a century. In May, 1941, it took USSR exactly two weeks to win the war.

Nowadays we have the undeclared war between North Vietnam, population 17 millions, and U.S.A., population 200 millions, plus small, insignificant help from several nations.

How come it takes U.S.A., with standing army of 500,000 soldiers, so long to win it? Fact, notwithstanding, that this war started several, not weeks but years ago. When it will end nobody knows, but what U.S.A. and President Johnson are doing is 100 per cent correct. U.S.A.'s big job — containment of spread of communists in East Asia. It is too bad that minority of population is against our President's actions.

It shouldn't be that way. Democracy is OK if it's done in moderation. Unfortunately, many Americans never experienced real war for many generations. War is ugly and horrible —not all of us realize that.

"So?" the old man defended himself, "you think it's easy to be an optimist in times like these?"

More Mad Momentum To Nuclear Arms Race

(Reprinted from St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

In announcing that the Soviets "May" be developing a nuclear missile to be fired from a satellite, Secretary McNamara probably had his mind on hearings on the anti-missile controversy before Senator Jackson's subcommittee of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

No doubt the secretary expected word of the new Soviet weapon, which is still hypothetical, to come out at the hearings, and sought to defuse the leak before it happened. The already formidable pressures for an escalation of the arms race presumably would be increased by sensational disclosure of a scary new Soviet bomb. Mr. McNamara undertook to quiet any fears by noting that the orbital missile, even if it is eventually deployed by the Soviets, will not alter the nuclear balance of power, and therefore he is not unduly concerned about it.

The secretary can make a coldly logical case for that analysis, but how persuasive it will be with senators and military experts who find more and more nuclear weapons the answer to every problem is a question. The idea of missiles being launched from space platforms or orbiting satellites has always held a special fascination for weaponry buffs, and the very possibility that the Russians may move in this direction can be expected to generate demands that we do the same.

Still the basic question needs to be asked: Why resort to orbital bombs when you can fire heavier warheads with greater accuracy by means of ballistic missiles? As Mr. McNamara says, the United States considered and rejected the orbital weapon some years ago, evidently because it did not offer sufficient advantages over the ballistic forms of delivery which we possess in such overpowering abundance. The one advantage it does offer is a reduction of warning time available to the defense. Mr. McNamara says even this will be neutralized by our development of over-the-horizon radar.

Why, then, do the Russians want a weapon which does not really change the nuclear balance? The answer is, we would guess, that they have their own military-industrial complex as we do, generals and strategists who take irrational comfort in nuclear stockpiles growing ever larger even though no real increase in security results. It is likely that the new gadget they may be developing is part of a general response to our own great increase in offensive capability which began in the early '60s.

That escalation, it will be remembered, was a response to suspicions of a "missile gap" which turned out to have been a fiction. If we now panic over an orbital-weapon gap which may or may not exist, we can look forward only to still further reciprocal escalation on the other side.

When will both parties to this lunatic competion find the resources of reciprocal sanity to call a halt? With or without orbital weapons, with or without 15-minute warning time or three-minute warning time, the basic fact is that each side possesses the nuclear power to destroy the other and neither dares to use it. The sane conclusion to be drawn is that security does not lie in more and more warheads of fancier and fancier sophistication, but in somehow bringing under control what Mr. McNamara has called the "madmomentum" of the arms race. In his words, what the world needs is not a new race towards armaments but a new race toward reasonableness.

PROBLEM SOLVING BEGINS AT HOME

In seeking solutions, the best place to start is usually with ourselves.

Occasionally we might ask ourselves questions like these:

Do I keep an open mind to all proposals? Or do I block out some because of my own dislikes?

Am I willing to work out a fair compromise? Or do I insist on having things my own way?

Am I genuinely pleased when somebody else comes up with a bright idea? Or do I regard it as a personal affront?

Have I such a clear picture of the goal that I can distinguish between a sensible compromise and an unworthy surrender?

The Lord expects us to face up to problems of all types, and will assist us if we cooperate.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

LBJ To Attack 'Unholy Alliance'

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's re-election strategy will be built around a vigorous 1968 campaign against what he calls the "unholy alliance" in Congress.

Under political plans being drafted at the White House, the President will try to pin this political label on the coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats in Congress who have combined forces to defeat or greatly whittle down his Great Society legislative proposals.

The "unholy alliance" charge, which will soon begin appearing in the President's speeches, was unveiled privately for the first time during an unannounced White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

ALTHOUGH THE SESSION was called mainly to consider the President's legislative program, it quickly turned into an unscheduled discussion of the President's political strategy for 1968.

After the Senate-House leaders one after another praised the President for his vigorous TV-press conference attack on opponents of his legislative program, the President replied:

"I'm glad you agree with the approach. That press conference was only a sample of what is going to come . . .

"THE POLITICAL PUNDITS are all wet when they say that I can't wage a campaign similar to the one Harry Truman conducted against the 80th Congress in 1948.

"There will be only one big difference. Where Truman made the Republican-controlled 80th Congress his whipping boy, I plan to attack the 'unholy alliance' in the 90th Congress — the Republicans and southern Democrats who vote day after day to wreck my program. . . .

"Politically, I'm not displeased with what the Republican leaders are doing in Congress. With the help of a few Democrats, they are making a record in cutting social programs that will haunt them throughout the entire campaign."

THE McCARTHY BACKLASH — Sen. Eugene McCarthy's intentions to seek the Democratic nomination for President will be less of a threat to President Johnson than to the political future of eight of his liberal colleagues in the Senate.

Those who feel directly threatened by McCarthys' forthcoming presidential activity are: Senators Birch Bayh, Ind.; Daniel Brewster, Md.; Frank Church, Idaho; Joseph Clark, Pa.; Ernest Gruening, Alaska; George McGovern, S. D.; Gaylord Nelson, Wis., and Abraham Ribicoff, Conn.

According to a confidential survey by the staff of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, what worries these senators is that McCarthy may head up a peace party after he loses at the Democratic convention.

Only Until Thursday To Register For Novato Bond Election Jan. 23

The City of Novato is holding a special election on Jan. 23 on issuance of $8,000,000 in bonds for park and streets improvements. That date was selected because it would be well after the holidays and before spring activities start.

It seems a long time away. But is it?

To vote in that election, a resident who is not already registered has only until Thursday to register. That's right, just until Thursday the last day of this month.

Registration may be at either the Novato City Hall or the main fire station on Grant Avenue between Highway 101 and First Street.

There is one qualification for a registered voter that many people miss. It applies to those registering for the first time. If the 21st birthday falls before the election, even by one day, on Jan. 22, they are eligible to register now and vote then.

MANY PEOPLE in Novato were surprised at the appointments made to the Novato Fire District Board last week by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The voters approved increasing the membership of the board from three to five, the two new positions to be filled by the supervisors.

They named Donald F. Donohue, who got the third largest vote in the recent election, to one of two new positions.

Fourth place in the election was tied between Charles P. Davies and Richard W. Price. Many people looked for the tie to be decided by the toss of a coin and the winner apponted to the board. This was done several years ago when there was a tie between Henry Alvernaz and Joseph Silveira.

Instead, Supervisor William A. Gnoss appointed Dante Panfiglio, who was not a candidate in the election.

"I had to think of what was best for the community and the fire department as a whole," Gnoss said.

"Both Davies and Price are good friends of mine, and I could not let friendship enter into the picture. The volunteer firemen — and they are a big force in the department — all wanted a representative on the board. So I chose Panfiglio, who is an active volunteer."

A boy went up to the librarian and asked for the "Nutty Rock" book.

"Are you sure that is the title of the book you want?" the librarian asked.

The boy was positive that was the book he wanted and that was the correct title of it.

Well, there are lots of unusual books coming out for children in this age, so the librarian thought that it was possible.

"You look on the shelves and I'll look through the card file," the libraian told the boys.

She was still looking through the card file when the boy came up to her.

"You don't need to look any more. I found it," the boy announced.

"Let me see it?" the librarian asked.

When It Comes To Garbled Syntax, Hardly Any of Us Is Immune

A recent piece on the sad state of English grammar, as evidenced by the odd syntax of some California teachers, more than doubled my usual quota of mail. The letters poured in not only from parents dismayed by their children's peculiar rhetoric but also from a surprising number of old-line pedagogues. Blame was leveled mainly at the lack of phonics in the early grades.

But the communication media didn't escape. One Los Angeles teacher wrote, "How can I compete with TV and tell my youngsters that 'orgy' has a soft 'g' when two of our local broadcasters make the 'g' hard? One does the news and the other is a self-proclaimed social philosopher who constantly reminds us of his many degrees."

AND A MIDWESTERN schoolmarm enclosed half-a-dozen clippings sent out by AP and UPI, ringing in red ink the spots where "whom" was improperly used for "who" — and vice versa. She wound up with George Ade's famous line: " 'Whom are you?' asked Cyril, for he had been to night school."

At the moment, California is a-flutter at the revelation that its schoolchildren rank low in reading ability, and our liberals make Governor Reagan the whipping-boy. If he paid the teachers enough, the children would be reading like mad. The flaws are not due to a generation of progressive education which stressed the whole child — whatever that means — and omitted phonics. No, it's Reagan's penuriousness.

Maybe so. But a young teacher told me several years ago he had been told not to correct a child's grammar if he came from a minority group, because, if the lad spoke differently from his chums, he would be derided. Nonsense like that may have had something to do with our plight.

OUR LOS ANGELES liberal paper hailed the defeat of Mrs. Louise Hicks in the Boston mayoralty race as a boost for education. Mrs. Hicks believed in the neighborhood schoolhouse and was against bussing — and somehow that made her both anti-Negro and anti-education. I never could figure why little Susie, black or white, was improved by getting up an hour earlier and coming home an hour later, but maybe it's because travel — even by bus — is so broadening.

But here, in the publisher's own paper, is an AP dispatch from Minneapolis, where he addressed Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity. In response to a question about the coverage of recent race riots, he said the papers had time to make an evaluation while TV's live coverage made it more difficult. "Television," he said, "has to rethink their role."

Well now, really! A singular subject and a plural pronoun! A fellow who was graduated from Stanford long before Reagan was governor ought to know enough to say "its role." I grant college athletes are entitled to some leeway — but before Sigma Delta Chi? Wait till Mrs. Hicks gets the news!

BUT THEN MANY of us find our grammar better when reading a prepared speech — one some ghost has helped us prepare — than in our normal conversation.

Here is the answer one President gave at a press conference in reply to a query about the miscegenation laws then on the books:

"Well, I, the law would, if there was a marriage of the kind you describe, I would assume that, and if any legal action was taken against the party, then I, they could have a relief, it would seem to me, in the courts, and it would be carried, I presume, to the higher courts depending on the judgment so that the laws themselves would be affected by the ultimate decision of the Supreme Court. So that I think there are legal remedies for any abuses in this field now available."

Hardly the polished prose of President Kennedy's Inaugural Address, is it? But it was spoken by the same man.

Slight Rise In Abortions Is Forecast

Two of the three Marin hospitals with facilities for legally performing therapeutic abortions expect a slight rise in the number of such operations under the state law which went into effect Nov. 8.

Ray K. Bolinger, administrator of Marin General Hospital said he expects a "small increase" in the number of therapeutic abortions, compared to the zero to three performed each year at the hospital in the past five years.

Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General Hospital, said it was "very likely that there will be more" therapeutic abortions under the new state law, but declined to state how many were usually performed in a year at Ross hospital. At Novato General Hospital, administrator Milton G. Scott said he could remember no therapeutic abortions having been performed in the five years he has been administrator. He said he expected none.

Under the new law, an abortion may legally be performed if continued pregnancy would gravely impair the physical or mental health of the mother. It may be performed if pregnancy resulted from rape or incest.

The previous law allowed an abortion only if the mother was in immediate danger of death.

Only hospitals sanctioned by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals may legally perform abortions under the new state law. Hospitals with fewer than 25 beds cannot be accredited by the commission.

$73,114 Contract

A $73,114 contract to landscape 1.2 miles along Highway 101 between .4 of a mile south and .8 of a mile north of Tamalpais Drive in Corte Madera has been awarded to Watkin and Sibbald of San Anselmo, the state Department of Public Works said today. Planting will include 33 trees, 956 shrubs and 58,000 ice plants.

Christmas Pageant In Novato On Sunday

"How Near Sing the Angels," is the title of the second annual Christmas pageant to be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Novato High School gymnasium, sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce and the Novato Parks and Recreation department.

Myrna Anderson wrote the pageant and is producing it.

There are seven scenes in the pageant. They will be represented in tableau frames by the Hill Junior High School drama department under the direction of Franca Hernandez.

Ellen Warner, Nathaniel Lee, Helen Soiland and Arthur Bliss are the soloists. Otto Haiungs and Lee are the narrators.

Shirley Taylor will be the organist; Norma Porter, the pianist, and Delilah Jakobsen, harpist.

Marie Bliss is the director. Bea Carpenter designed the costumes. David Hoffman is in charge of the lighting. Makeup will be done by Novato High School drama department.

Arthur Street from South Novato Boulevard to the high school will be lighted by luminarios before the performance.

Myrna Anderson will be interviewed on KTIM radio by Verne Sulier on the "Marin on the Go" program at 11 a.m. Friday.

Tickets may be obtained from the chamber, the parks and recreation department at Novato city hall, or at the door the night of the pageant.

Old Bolinas School To Be Sold, Moved

The old Bolinas seventh and eighth grade school building, condemned for classroom use last year, will be sold and moved from the site, the Bolinas-Stinson School District Board decided last night.

Money raised from the sale, along with insurance money received for a recent fire which damaged a storage building at Stinson School, will be put into a fund reserved for building construction and land acquisition in the district's building program.

The Bolinas building and the fire-damaged building at Stinson Beach were condemned as classrooms because they failed to meet earthquake safety standards.

The board also decided to hire a soils engineer to work with architect William M. Gillis in the next phase of building plans, the engineer to be chosen by Gillis. Geologist Alan J. Gallowan of Stinson Beach will work with the soils engineer.

The Bolinas-Stinson School District Board also:

BUS — Sold a 1959 school bus to Bruce Warring of Bolinas for $750.

MEETING — Agreed to take up the building program again at the Dec. 12 meeting.

Prospective Car Buyer's Car Hit

Mrs. Joan Mildred Ponder, of 112 La Pasada, San Rafael, was contemplating buying a car which she parked in front of her mother's house yesterday then heard a crash as another driver drove into it.

Mrs. Ponder told the California Highway Patrol she had just walked into her mother's house at 139 Mabry Way, Santa Venetia, when a southbound car driven by Virginia Eloise Nixon, 22, of 125 Vendola Drive, San Rafael, skidded in the rain and crashed into the parked car at 1:10 p.m.

Work Session For New School

Lagunita School District trustees decided last night to hold a work session some time in January to plan program, facilities and staffing for the new San Geronimo Valley Elementary School which is scheduled to open in September 1968.

Supt. Marshall J. McCunniff told board members that site preparation for the new school is almost complete.

First draft of an educational goals statement prepared by a staff committee under the leadership of Rubin Grobein, a teacher, was given to the board for study.

Prison Sentence On Two Charges

Dennis F. Laflamme, 20, of San Francisco, was sentenced to concurrent terms of 1-5 and 1-15 years in prison Friday for car theft and buglary in Novato last year.

Laflamme was scheduled for sentencing in May 1966, but escaped from Napa State Hospital, where he had been taken for observation of possible suicidal tendencies.

He was brought to Marin Superior Court from Judge Harold J. Haley's sentence Friday from the federal institution at Lompoc, Santa Barbara County.

Kentfield Trustees Agree To Engineers' Access Road

The Kentfield School District board last night agreed to permit the Army Corps of Engineers to have an access road on district property for maintenance of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

District Supt. Anthony G. Bacich said there will also be negotiation between the school and the county planning officer for land or financial adjustment to compensate for the small portion of district land affected by the project.

The board also authorized hiring of three additional kindergarten teachers. Bacich said the expansion is in line with a new law permitting longer hourly teaching of kindergarten classes. Salaries of the new teachers, to be hired shortly after Christmas will depend on their qualifications, he said.

The board also ratified an earlier agreement permitting the Marin County Board of education to use a district classroom for teaching of three hard-of-hearing junior high school students. The class began at the beginning of the school year.

Crash Is Fatal

SONORA (UPI) — Paul K. Rowe, 48, Antioch, died at Sonora Community Hospital today of chest injuries suffered in a two-car crash on Highway 49 near Chinese Camp Thanksgiving day.

Poverty War Troops Now On Half Pay

WASHINGTON (UPI) Poverty war troops and employees of the foreign aid agency went on half pay today because of a congressional deadlock over spending authority.

Officials of the Agency for International Development (AID) were notified that the approximately 9,000 AID employees would get only one week's pay for two weeks' work late today or early tomorrow.

Scoutmaster Not Missing

Serna, of 115 Myrtle Avenue, took some Scouts from Troop 33 to a camp in the Fairfax hills last Friday. When he didn't return home late Friday night, his wife notified police that he was missing.

Serna wasn't missing, she said, he had merely spent the night with the Boy Scouts. He returned home Saturday morning. "I thought he was going to check the Scouts into the camp and return home," she said. "That was where the misunderstanding arose."
